ST. CLAIR RIVER REGION COBBED FOR OUTLAW

Young Negro Who Escaped With John Dillinger From Jail in Indiana Shot in Fight With Officers; Before Death He Says Dillinger With Him Yesterday Evening

Police in Ontario Join in Big Hunt

Port Huron, Mich., March 16.—Herbert Youngblood, negro partner of John Dillinger in his escape from the Crown Point, Ind., jail a fortnight ago, died in a hospital here this afternoon of bullet wounds received in a battle with sheriff's officers who had trapped him in an Oak Avenue store.

Meanwhile police received a tip three men had crossed the St. Clair River into Ontario in a boat today at about the time Herbert Youngblood, negro companion of "kill-crazy" John Dillinger, was shot.

The report said the men got into a waiting car and sped away. Ontario police were notified.

INDIANS SIGHTED
Sarnia, March 16.—A report that a man believed to have been John Dillinger, notorious convict, had crossed the river from Port Huron, Mich., with two companions, was exploded by authorities here today when police investigated and found two Indians had rowed across the river.

On receipt of the report, Sarnia constables, accompanied by Royal Mounted Police officers, rushed to the riverbank near the point where the convict had been reported seen. They could find no trace of men or boats. Indians about the river were questioned, but reported no persons had crossed near there.

A second alarm sent authorities again to the river where two Indians had landed. They decided if any men had rowed across they must have returned to the United States side.

ADMITTED IDENTITY
Port Huron, Mich., March 16.—Herbert Youngblood died of bullet wounds in the chest and abdomen here this afternoon shortly after he had been identified by Captain Matt Leach of the Indiana state police, thereby spurring a search for John Dillinger, desperado and bank robber, of whom the young negro had been a companion.

LARGE PENSION SUM REPAID
Federal Board Receives $5,000 From Mrs. Annie Yuill Estate in Regina

Ottawa, March 16.—The board of pensions commissioners received approximately $5,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Annie Yuill, who died in Regina recently, officials here stated today. The will of Mrs. Yuill disclosed she had received money during many years to which she was not entitled. This money has now been repaid out of the estate.

EIGHT TAKEN IN POLICE RAID
Manitowish, Wis., March 16.—Not on the Bremer kidnap trail, federal agents state man-hunters today held eight persons, some of them linked closely by association with the suspected abductors, following a raid Thursday on an Osage County hide-away near this hamlet.

Although two or more of the men sought for the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, had been reported in this vicinity during the last three weeks, they were not at the farm house six miles west of here when the officers arrived at surprise and made their captures.

SNOW WELCOMED IN SOUTH ALBERTA

Calgary, March 16.—A three-inch fall of snow blanketed southern Alberta today, bringing assurance of a fine moisture supply for farm and range lands.

Starting early yesterday evening, the storm lasted throughout the night, but it was calm today and temperatures were comparatively high.

LINDBERGH AT MAIL INQUIRY

Opposing Recent U.S. Plane Cancellation, He Says New Bill Leaves Gap

Washington, March 16.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today challenged the right of the government to cancel the private air-mail contracts before the operators had been tried on the charges of fraud.

In testimony before the United States senate post office committee, the flier reiterated his opposition to Postmaster-General James A. Farley's annulment of the contracts.

He raised objections to legislation being considered for a new and permanent air-mail setup.

"I believe," he declared, "the bill leaves untouched the most fundamental question, and that is whether or not the contractors have a right to be tried before they are convicted."

Flier Killed At London, Ont.
Capt. F. G. M. Sparks, Widely-known Pilot, Dies When Plane Crashes

London, Ont., March 16.—One of Canada's best known aviators, Captain F. G. M. Sparks, former instructor at Windsor, Ont., and Montreal airports, was instantly killed today when his plane fell in a field.

The machine, a London flying plane, was seen to go into a steep climb after circling at 400 feet. The altitude was apparently not sufficient for Captain Sparks to right the machine and it crashed into a field near the airport.

The flier died instantly. The wreckage did not burn.

Capt. Sparks was assistant flying instructor at the London airport. Captain Sparks, who came to London only a week ago from Walkerville, where he had lived for the last four or five years after coming from Montreal, was making a test flight.

He had a record of about 10,000 hours in the air and had flown at pageants all over the Dominion.

Radio Inquiry Is Started At Ottawa
Chairman of Commission Tells Commons Committee of Finding Talent For Broadcasting

Ottawa, March 16.—Good talent is being found in Canada and full opportunity for its development is being afforded in the work of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, Hector Charlesworth, radio head, told a committee of the House of Commons today. In Toronto and Montreal, the old experienced artists had been largely re-engaged, but in those cities and in the west, the Maritimes and Quebec new talent had been tried to advantage.

DIAMOND IS AS BIG AS AN EGG

Those wanting to know what the fourth biggest diamond in the world looks like may study the rock the above pictured London saleswoman is comparing to an egg in size. Found in South Africa a month ago by Jacobus Jonker, an aged prospector, the gem brought him $315,000. The diamond was sent to London by mail in an ordinary parcel.

FARM MARKETING BOARD PLAN SOON BEFORE COMMONS
Resolution to Be Moved By Minister of Agriculture Provides For Salaries For Staff

Ottawa, March 16.—Appointment of a Dominion marketing board will be moved in the House of Commons by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture.

The minister has given notice that he will move the following resolution: "That, it is expedient to bring in a measure to improve the methods and practices of marketing of natural products in Canada and in export trade, and to provide for a Dominion marketing board, the remuneration of the members thereof and of assistants and employees, and to authorize payment to the board of such sums of money as may be necessary for the purpose of the proposed legislation."

DOLLAR 99 29-32 ON EXCHANGE
New York, March 16.—Fractional fluctuations marked foreign exchange trading here today. The Canadian dollar eased 1-32 percent to 99 29-32 cents, while the pound sterling slipped 3/4 cent to 65 1/2. The French franc was off 1/4 point at 65 1/2 cents.

POLICE GUARD MENACED HOME
Abductors Make Threat Against Wealthy Connecticut Woman

Greenwich, Conn., March 16.—The shadow of a kidnap plot lay today over the palatial home where Fredericka Fry del Guercio, $8,000,000 heiress to the Timken Roller Bearing fortune, lives with her two-year-old son.

There was a special police guard about the house. Chief of Police Patrick J. Flanagan said a note had been received warning there was a plot to kidnap either Mrs. del Guercio or her son and to hold the victim for $100,000 ransom.

"I'm not in a position to talk about it," said Chief Flanagan. Counsel for Mrs. del Guercio said the note was received by the police chief.

The Department of Justice was notified.

Mrs. del Guercio is the adopted daughter of J. H. Fry, noted artist who now is in Italy, and the late Mrs. J. H. Timken Fry. Her former husband, Eligo del Guercio, is a lawyer in New York. They were divorced in July, 1933.

NEW AUSTRIAN BUSINESS PLAN

Hungary Also May Adopt Corporative System Similar to Italy's

Associated Press
Rome, March 16.—Leaders of Italy, Austria and Hungary, meeting in an economic and political conference, decided to extend their conference into extra periods today.

Still immersed in a swirl of tariff figures and data on mutual trade and political questions after a series of meetings which began Tuesday, Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria and Hungary's Premier, Julius Goemboes, decided to remain with Premier Mussolini until Saturday night.

A communiqué, which said Thursday's meetings had been devoted to an examination of "political and economic problems," was given out. Well-informed circles believe installation of the corporative state in Austria and Hungary will follow the conference.

FLOOD DESTROYS ECUADOR TOWN
Guayaquil, Ecuador, March 16.—The town of Celica, said official sources today, was destroyed by a flood which followed heavy rains. It was feared there would be loss of life. The government has sent aid.

FIREMEN SEEK WAGE BOOST
Cost of Living Statistics Quoted to Council For Conciliation Board

A request for a conciliation board to mediate between members of the Victoria Fire Department and the City Council on the question of salaries was sought by a delegation composed of H. Medley, F. Briers and A. McAllister before the public works committee of the City Council today.

The firemen asked such a board be composed of one member of the council, one representing the fire department employees and a chairman to be selected by mutual consent.

At a recent meeting of the council the members heard a request from the firemen for the restoration of their salaries, reduced voluntarily 5 per cent in 1931 and by compulsion another 10 per cent in 1932.

They base their claims for the restoration on statistics from the Labor Gazette, stating the cost of living has gone up over 18 per cent since the wage cuts were enforced.

The firemen call attention to the intention of the mayor to restore wages when living costs rose, and claim that Victoria has the lowest paid department on the coast, and is the lowest paid service in the city when the hours of work are considered.

Further strength, they declare, is added to their argument on the grounds the government recently increased the maximum food allowance for unemployed by 10 per cent.

HITCH HIKER IS WEARY WHEN FOUND
Rochester, N.Y., March 16.—Under prolonged questioning by deputy sheriffs, Joseph Baechler, thirty, automobile dealer of Tavistock, Ont., who was found lying in Buffalo Road at the city line early today, admitted he was just a weary hitch-hiker and not the victim of a lapse of memory.

UNIVERSITY BREAKS LAW HALF-CENTURY
Canadian Press
Halifax, March 16.—Educationists were startled today to learn the board of governors of Dalhousie University was not constituted in accordance with the statutes of the province of Nova Scotia and had lacked legal jurisdiction for half a century.

Intimation of a puzzling state of affairs was contained in a return tabled in the Legislature by Premier Angus L. Macdonald.

The return stated the statutes had been disregarded with respect to the acts of 1875 and amendments of 1881 which provided for members of the board "to a number not exceeding fifteen."

COMMONS VOTES $50,000 FOR CADETS

Ottawa, March 16.—The House of Commons yesterday evening approved a vote of $50,000 for cadet training. The vote for the active militia, $1,944,000, also passed, along with one of $687,100 for stores.

URGES CONTROL FOR RECOVERY

Abolition of Anarchic Competition and Fairer Ethics Are Needed

Maj. L. L. Anthes, Manufacturers' Head, Says Canada Crawling Out of Depression

Abolition of anarchic competition and the setting up of control of business and industry by those engaged in them, without government intervention, on a basis of higher ethics and consideration for others, was seen as the way out of the depression for Canada by Major L. L. Anthes, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in a luncheon address to members of the local branch of the Manufacturers' Association and the Retail Credit Granters' Association, in Spencer's dining-room today.

"Canada is crawling out of the depression. Every indication I meet shows some step forward, month by month," Major Anthes said.

The country's industries were within 15 per cent of the normal level of 1926, he said, adding some were above that, while others lagged behind.

It had been his mission in his trip to stimulate building trades, which influenced so many now out of work. The National Construction Association had asked for over a year to promote activity in that field of activity and had at last influenced the government to initiate steps along these lines.

SEVENTY-FIVE DIE IN STORM
Property Losses Along Coast of Queensland, Australia, $500,000

Brisbane, Australia, March 15.—A terrific cyclone which swept the northern coast of Queensland, was feared today to have resulted in the loss of seventy-five lives and property damage of more than $500,000.

The area between Cairns and Cooktown was hit hardest. Most of the casualties occurred on small vessels. Many craft were disabled and others blown to sea.

Strengthening New Wage Bill
Youths and Profit-sharing Schemes to Come Under Government Measure

Further changes designed to strengthen the government's new minimum wage bill are proposed by Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and sponsor of the measure, in amendments now on the order paper.

Under these amendments the Board of Industrial Relations would be given the following additional powers:

To inquire into labor conditions of, and fix wages for, all male persons between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years, in any industry or occupation.

To inquire into partnerships or profit sharing, or co-operative undertakings, and to prohibit such schemes if they are found to be contrary to the spirit of the wage act.

And to provide a penalty for any employer, who in collusion with an employee, accepts less than the minimum wage to which he is entitled.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON
London, March 16 (Associated Press).—The United States dollar appreciated one cent to the pound sterling today, closing at $68 1/2. The French franc closed at 77.55 to the pound, against 77 1/2 Thursday.

Greek Government Foils S. Insull's Escape Attempt When It Finds Him On Ship

SPECTACULAR FLIGHT ENDS

Athens, March 16.—Police and the chief of alien control today were making an investigation at Piræus, port from which Samuel Insull Sr. made his dramatic flight. Arrests may be made, it was hinted.

ARRESTS COMING IN INSULL CASE

Regulations For Municipal Financing Suggested as Victoria Bill Discussed

Suggestions that all municipal bonds in the province be made callable, and payable in Canadian funds only were studied by the private bills committee this morning when Victoria's bill for refunding powers on serial debentures was under discussion.

"It is about time we got down to the principle used in the Old Country of making government bonds callable," said R. H. Pooley, K.C.

"One of the big stumbling blocks in the way of our refunding schemes at the present time is that our bonds are not callable," said Byron Johnson, who is piloting the Victoria measure.

While not averse to permissive powers of this sort being given the council, Mayor Leeming doubted where the real value of callable bonds would be as high.

A. M. Manson, K.C., the committee chairman, pointed out the proper place for such a provision was in the Municipal Act and not a private bill.

The question of payment in Canadian funds was raised by Darcy Martin, appearing as a ratepayer. He suggested that this procedure be stipulated in the bill.

"It really doesn't matter whether you do or not," said Mayor Leeming, "because the council, in the last two years, has made all its issues payable only in Canadian currency."

MADE MONEY ON EXCHANGE
He explained further that the City of Victoria had made money on the exchange situation, as it had more commitments in London than in New York.

Mr. Manson raised this as being a point which might well be included in the Municipal Act and cover all municipalities.

Currie Memorial Is Advocated
Ottawa, March 16.—Representations will be made to the government to the end that a suitable national memorial be erected in Canada to the memory of the late Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, according to a resolution unanimously adopted by the fifth Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion here.

Sir Arthur, who commanded the Canadian Army in France in the Great War, was for years grand president of the Canadian Legion.

Declares Victoria Haven of Sunshine
You don't know what it means to a man coming from the frozen east to this haven of sunshine," Maj. Gen. L. L. Anthes, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, told members of the local branch of the C.M.A. and Retail Credit Granters' Association, at their luncheon in Spencer's dining-room today.

Major Anthes spoke of the land of ice and snow from which he had come and expressed his appreciation of the beauties of the Empress Hotel and Parliament Buildings lawns and flowers.

Stampede In Great Bear Lake Mine Area
Cameron Bay, N.W.T., March 16.—Arrival here of a piece of black ore—among the richest pitchblende samples seen in the Great Bear Lake mineral field—has turned this mining settlement into a scene of feverish activity, and a real stampede to the new strike area at Beaveridge Lake, 100 miles south of here, was in progress today.

Confirmation of the recent strike was brought by the return of Ted Hargreaves of the Great Bear Development Company from the strike area with the rich samples. Over 200 claims have been staked already.

Fitchblende is a source of radium.

TROOPS CONTROL SANTIAGO, CUBA
Santiago, Cuba, March 16 (Associated Press).—The military again took control of this city today, closing cafes and shops and ordering people from the streets because of a bombing epidemic yesterday evening. Thirteen bombs exploded in various sections of the city.

Aged Ex-financier Wanted For Trial in Chicago Gets Part of Way to Port Said on Freighter Maiotis When Authorities Discover Whereabouts and Cause Vessel to Turn Back to Greece; He Will Be Sent to United States

The finding of Insull culminated one of the most widespread police searches in the history of this nation.

The Maiotis was bound for Port Said. Reports said Insull paid $10,000 before the Maiotis sailed at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

From Port Said it would be possible for one destined to escape to disappear into the wild Abyssinian countryside, BACK TO CHICAGO

Agry because of his coup in attempting to sneak away from Greece, the government has decided to return Insull to the United States, where he will face charges of embezzlement and larceny.

The Maiotis is now proceeding to Piræus, port of Athens, where it is expected to arrive to-morrow.

Two ships are scheduled to sail from Piræus shortly for the United States and it was held likely the seventy-four-year-old fugitive, who battled for nearly eighteen months to escape return, would be aboard one of them.

Previously the government had planned merely to expel Insull from Greece, allowing him to go where he wished in search of refuge.

"FIGHTING MAD"
The government was represented as "fighting mad" because last week's invalid put it in an embarrassing light by his secret maritime dash early yesterday.

ARREST FOLLOWS DEATH OF MAN
Grouard, Alta., March 16.—Captured after a brief but hot chase, John Ferguson, twenty-five, alleged slayer of his sweetheart's father, Louis John, Big Prairie farmer, was in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks at High Prairie today. Corporal Faulkner of the R.C.M.P. arrested Ferguson late yesterday.

Ferguson faces a charge of murder. An inquest was set to open this afternoon.

Callable Bond Term Proposed

Mr. Pooley said this might create a danger of placing the municipality in the hands of Canadian bondholders as a class when cheaper money was available elsewhere.

Other points in the city's bill were for power to extend a mortgage on the Esquimalt Waterworks property and for authority to control and regulate taxes.

RATEPAYERS OPPOSED

Frank Le Roy, Mrs. Julia de Blaquiere and Arthur Hinder appeared on behalf of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association and asserted their rights to have a referendum on the refunding submitted to the taxpayers instead of the power being given by the Legislature. It was explained the bonds must be paid in any event, and Mayor Leeming made reference to the recent move of the ratepayers to agitate for a "tax strike" if the mill rate was raised. The refunding scheme was designed to keep the rate down.

An amendment to Victoria's act which will waive the necessity of the council meeting on New Year's Day when it happens to fall on a Monday met with no objection from the committee.

MINISTER RESIGNS

In the midst of the storm of criticism and frenzied police efforts today, John Metaxas, Minister of the Interior and head of the police organization, resigned. Thursday he had issued a statement in which he accepted complete responsibility in the affair.

CANAL BARRED

D. Maximos, Minister of Foreign Affairs, had interviewed the British minister with the view of barring passage through the Suez Canal to the Malaita and thereby compelling the ship to turn back from that point.

The freighter's master made up his mind to return his much-sought passenger to Greece territory when the government filled the air with urgent wireless messages to him.

Government officials said if the Malaita had not turned back they would have put off Insull's flight abroad.

Swarm of Greece's police authority was extended in the effort to apprehend Insull and force compliance with the Greek government's order he must leave Greece.

Rumors said he had left Greece by every possible method imaginable could deceive. It was also regarded by many as equally likely Insull had not left Greece at all, but was in hiding from the authorities.

During the search the government notified the Greek coast guard at Saida to land there. The Governor of Crete was instructed to detain the Malaita if it should touch that island.

ALLOWED TO GO HOME

The police, after detaining them all night in a barren office without even a bed, permitted Mrs. Insull and her intimate friend, Mrs. Cuyoumoglou, the Greek wife of a Baghdad merchant, to go home at 8 a.m.

Police Lieutenant Petropoulos admitted: "We learned next to nothing regarding Insull's whereabouts."

Mrs. Insull is to be deported. So is the Insull's French valet. Other servants have been released.

YACHT REPORT

In the mass of reports, one said Insull had reached the Grecian city.

Mr. Ahearn asked how many privately owned stations there were in Canada. There were about sixty, he was told, and they were all privileged to hook up to the commission's broadcasts when they wished.

The Ottawa member asked what stations in Canada had contracts with the large United States networks. Stations CKAC, Montreal; CFRB, Toronto, and CKLW at Windsor and London were linked with the Columbia system, and stations CFCF, Montreal; CROC, Toronto, were linked with the N.B.C. said the witness.

NOT HANDED OVER

The Canadian commission did not intend to let these United States programs extend beyond points where contracts existed, Mr. Charlesworth said, since the Canadian market would be handed over almost entirely to United States stations.

Mr. Ahearn believed many Canadians wanted to hear the big United States networks, and in Ottawa listeners wondered why they had not the right to hear United States programs as in Montreal and Toronto.

The answer of the Canadian commission to the United States companies was "You should come to Canada, organize your programs with Canadian artists and talent and distribute it over Canadian services," the chairman said.

About 800 artists were employed in the average week, testified Mr. Charlesworth.

Mrs. E. Salo and Daughter Jumped Through Window as Fire Consumed Home

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, March 16.—A fire completely destroyed a residence at Chase River this morning at 7.30, property of Emmanuel Salo, the loss being estimated at $8,000.

Mrs. Salo and her eighteen-year-old daughter had a narrow escape from death, being asleep when the building was burned and making their escape by jumping through a window. They were aroused by Dominic Begg, a neighbor, who saw the fire and rushed across to the house, smashing a window.

Mr. Salo was milking in the barn when the fire started.

The house was a two-story building with four rooms, the rear being occupied by George Massanen. The Massanens managed to save most of their furniture. The Salo family were only able to save some wearing apparel. Mrs. Salo suffered a badly cut knee when she jumped through the window. The building and contents were partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire was thought to be due to an overheated stove.

CENTRAL BANK BILL STUDIED

Hon. J. Mackenzie Tells Commons Committee Government Ownership Needed

Ottawa, March 16.—Indication that a block of the Liberal representation in the House of Commons would support the Progressive group in the move to make the central bank a wholly government-owned institution was given when the Bank of Canada Act made its first appearance before the banking and commerce committee yesterday.

Hon. J. Mackenzie, Liberal-Vancouver Centre, gave notice of a resolution that, if adopted, would involve drastic changes in the whole measure, placing it wholly in the control and ownership of the government.

Pending settlement of these and other motions, the bill could not be proceeded with to any great extent, but some non-contentious items were passed and the committee adjourned until Tuesday next.

Discussing that section of the Bank of Canada Act which provides that chartered banks will be required to surrender to the central bank all their gold reserves at the standard price of $20.75 per ounce, R. B. White, Conservative member for Mount Royal, declared such action would be a surrender of the gold.

Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister of Finance, explained the gold held by the banks had been secured as a reserve against foreign investments for which the banks would receive the current price of gold.

Observing the theoretical profit accruing to the government from the transfer of gold from the chartered banks to the central bank would amount to about $50,000,000, Mr. Clark declared he was devoted to reducing the public debt.

The Minister of Finance said there was no intention of any immediate change in the method of the government buying gold from the mines, and he saw no reason why the Bank of Canada Act would involve any change.

Retired Farmer Of Cowichan Passes

Thomas Lyell Forrest, for twenty years a farmer at Cowichan, passed away yesterday at his home in the Savoy Mansions, where he had been residing for the last seven months.

Mr. Forrest was born in Scotland sixty years ago and is survived by his widow, at the above address, one daughter, Mrs. Martindale, Santa Monica, Cal., and one son, R. P. Forrest, Los Angeles, also two brothers, William, at Cowichan, and Edward, Victoria. Mr. Forrest was a member of the Masonic Order.

Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 o'clock, and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Cabinet to Hear Legion's Views

Vancouver, March 16.—The death knell of the Okanagan Stabilization Board had apparently been sounded today following a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court here yesterday.

The judgment was given in connection with the claim of Major Michael Vincent McQuinn, a former pool agent for the board, to recover $10,187 equalization levies from the Crestland Fruit Co. Ltd. of Penticton. Major McQuinn's claim was dismissed with costs.

In handing down the judgment, Mr. Justice Murphy found the Stabilization Board was illegal and that agreements between the board and the growers were unenforceable because they were in restraint of trade and contravening section 408 of the Criminal Code.

The contracts between the board and the growers concerned the marketing of the 1933 Okanagan apple crop. The pool handled 3,500,000 boxes, of which 1,500,000 were sold primarily in Alberta and Saskatchewan and the balance exported.

Mr. Justice Murphy, quoting the late Chief Justice Anglin of the Supreme Court of Canada, said: "The prime question, certainly must be, does the contract, however advantageous or even necessary for the protection of the business interest of the parties, impose improper, inordinate, excessive or oppressive restrictions upon that competition the benefit of which is the right of every trader."

Recounting the acts of Walter Haskins, chairman of the "cent a pound" or "on the ground" committee which preceded the formation of the Stabilization Board, with regard to the Belgo Co-operative, Kelowna, and of the vigilante committee at Penticton which forced associated growers to unload a "car of apples," the judge said these were unquestionably illegal.

The actions of the pool members, Mr. Justice Murphy said, he said, that the court must refuse to deal with the contract in any way at the suit of any party thereto.

In closing, Mr. Justice Murphy remarked in regard to the Okanagan apple industry: "The mere pursuit of profit, I think, convinces anyone that the single service men, as restored, thus enabling relief payments as follows:

Married pensioners $45; first child $12.50; second child $10; single man $10.

Relief Camp Charges Heard

Patronage Evil Exists, Liberal Members Tell House of Commons

Ottawa, March 16.—Charges of patronage in the unemployment camps under the Department of National Defence caused a flurry in the House of Commons yesterday evening when the department's estimates were under review.

Mr. C. J. Power, Liberal, Quebec South, "if one loaf of bread or a pound of tea has been purchased around Quebec without patronage having been made an issue."

Thomas Field, Liberal, New Westminster, wanted to know why farmers in British Columbia were generally unable to submit tenders to the department for the supplying of vegetables and other foodstuffs.

Col. Sutherland, understood the difficulty arose out of the disorganized and irregular manner in which the farmers offered their produce. The example, declared the minister, had to be supplied regularly and consistently.

The following table reveals the number of camps in western provinces and the total number of men in each province: Manitoba 6-872; Saskatchewan 3-1,162; Alberta 8-1,330; British Columbia 62-8,390.

F. R. MacMillan, Conservative, Saskatchewan, also denoted any patronage in the camp in his riding. The fact might be stepped in patronage, he said, but that did not apply to the west.

Why don't you propose such an inquiry? questioned Senator H. W. Laird, Regina.

"I have had quite a lot of experience with the question of patronage in the camps," said Mr. Power, "and it would make a mighty interesting investigation."

The subject was not pursued.

WIN TRIUMPH IN SHAW PLAY

Vancouver, March 16.—In probably the most brilliant production in the history of the University Players' Club, George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" was presented Wednesday in the University auditorium to the accompaniment of repeated ovations from an enthusiastic opening-night audience.

Mrs. Dorothy Somerset of the Little Theatre is the director. The reception of the play testified to the perennial appeal of Shaw's audacity. The prologue insults the intelligence of the audience, the plot makes free with history, the British nation in particular and institutions in general are satirized throughout, and the result is keen enjoyment.

Confronted by a drama which is difficult to handle, and rendered unwell by a cast of more than forty, the Players' Club achieved a notable triumph. Stage settings and lighting were particularly effective.

NEW BISHOP OF ELY.
London, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Rt. Rev. Bernard Heywood, sixty-three, Suffragan Bishop of Hull since 1931, has been appointed Bishop of Ely in succession to the late Bishop Leonard White-Thomson. The new bishop formerly was assistant bishop in the York diocese.

OTTAWA, March 16.—A sure method of securing newspaper publicity for the proceedings in the Red Chamber of Parliament would be to initiate an inquiry into newspaper companies, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Montreal, suggested in the Senate yesterday. There had been complaints that the Senate had not a great deal of publicity.

Senator Robinson observed, and he believed the members themselves were largely to blame.

"Why don't you propose such an inquiry?" questioned Senator H. W. Laird, Regina.

"I have had quite a lot of experience with the question of patronage in the camps," said Mr. Power, "and it would make a mighty interesting investigation."

Cabinet to Hear Legion's Views

Vancouver, March 16.—The death knell of the Okanagan Stabilization Board had apparently been sounded today following a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court here yesterday.

The judgment was given in connection with the claim of Major Michael Vincent McQuinn, a former pool agent for the board, to recover $10,187 equalization levies from the Crestland Fruit Co. Ltd. of Penticton. Major McQuinn's claim was dismissed with costs.

In handing down the judgment, Mr. Justice Murphy found the Stabilization Board was illegal and that agreements between the board and the growers were unenforceable because they were in restraint of trade and contravening section 408 of the Criminal Code.

The contracts between the board and the growers concerned the marketing of the 1933 Okanagan apple crop. The pool handled 3,500,000 boxes, of which 1,500,000 were sold primarily in Alberta and Saskatchewan and the balance exported.

NEW BUSINESS SHOWS ADVANCE

J. A. Macfarlane, general manager of the Monarch Life Assurance Co., said today that the company's business in Victoria, in the course of an inspection trip of the Monarch Life western branch, reported a definite improvement in business conditions.

As evidence of this, Mr. Macfarlane says, the business of his company for each month since March, 1933, has exceeded that of the corresponding months of the previous year.

Other evidences of general improvement in the business of the company, he said, were the demand by policyholders of life insurance companies generally for policy loans and surrenders.

New business of the Vancouver Island branch under George D. Tyson has substantially increased this year. During his stay in the city Mr. Macfarlane met the company's representatives at a luncheon meeting here.

DEATH CALLS LUMBER KING

R. A. Long Succumbs at Kansas City Following Operation

Associated Press
Kansas City, March 16.—Robert A. Long, eighty-three, chairman of the board of the Long-Bell Lumber Company, and founder of a large lumber fortune, died yesterday after an operation for an intestinal obstruction. He had been under an oxygen tent for brief periods since the operation Tuesday.

Through an unprofitable business venture in hay, Robert Alexander Long, multimillionaire philanthropist, city builder and chairman of the board of directors of the Long-Bell Lumber Company, was absorbed into the lumber business, where fifty years later he headed the largest lumber firm in the world operating under one name.

When he was twenty-two, R. A. Long went into the hay business in Columbus, Kansas, with Robert White and Victor Long as partners. It had been pointed out to the men that the grass on the Kansas prairie could be bought cheaply and converted into hay. Young Long cut and placed in stack some 300 tons of the grass, but much of it was blown before cutting and was not salable. It was in closing out the business that a queer trick was learned him into the lumber business.

After the hay was disposed of, Young Long began tearing down the sheds he had used to shelter it, two or three carloads in all. This lumber he sold at a profit. Several Columbus merchants bought, and each one pointed out to him a lumber yard in Columbus would be a paying proposition. Young Long was looking for opportunity, so he consulted with an uncle in Kansas City, borrowed money from the uncle's bank and with White and Bell again as partners, embarked on the career which was to lead him to one of the foremost places in the lumber industry. Make him a multimillionaire philanthropist and city builder.

R. A. Long was born on a farm near Shelbyville, Ky., December 17, 1850. His parents were Samuel M. Long and his wife, formerly Miss Margaret K. White. He received his education in the public schools and for a few months attended a boys' school at Shelbyville.

Budget Debate Ends; House On Estimates

All of Opposition Except Two Speak; Winch Asks Education Changes

Hugh Savage Deplores Deficit and Urges Stringent Economy

After four sittings of intensive speech-making, the budget debate in the Legislature closed at 10:45 o'clock yesterday evening as the formal motion that "the Speaker do now leave the chair" passed without a dissenting voice. The first item in the estimates, which provides for payment of the annual interest charges, was passed, and the House adjourned in committee of supply.

There were five speakers at the night session: E. E. Winch, Burnaby; R. H. Pooley, K.C. Esquimalt; Thomas Uphill, Fernie; Hugh Savage, Cowichan-Newcastle; and Byron Johnson, Victoria. Jack Price, C.C.F., Vancouver East, and R.W. Bruhn, Salmon Arm, were the only Opposition members who did not speak in the debate.

E.C.F. VIEWS
E. E. Winch, C.C.F. Burnaby, said the budget obviously showed the government accepted the principle that interest was the first consideration in financing; that bondholders came before human needs.

He made a reference to the appointment of an assistant premier, declaring it was an application of the old maxim, "to the victor belong the spoils."

Mr. Winch commended the extra expenditure for education, assuring this was in accordance with C.C.F. ideals, but offered some criticism of present methods of education which he described as molding mentality. Development of mentality was not a principle under capitalism, said the speaker, for knowledge was power when one had the intelligence to apply it, arguing that students should be encouraged to think for themselves. Money for education was the best investment that could be made if the education was in line with modern thought and modern conditions, claimed the speaker, declaring the present method of education was for the upholding of the capitalist system.

The C.C.F. welcomed the increase for old age pensions, but would like to see the age limit reduced. They recognized, however, that was largely a federal matter. He voiced the hope the regulation calling for parents to force their children to court for a decision as to whether they were able to contribute to the maintenance of a pension applicant should be abolished.

REVENUE SOURCES
The speaker suggested as a source of revenue the government should take complete control of the liquor industry. He regretted the government had not taken over all forms of insurance, from which huge profits were derived. As long as profits existed they should be taken over by the government.

Mr. Winch hoped an inquiry would be made to assure proper treatment for boys in the Industrial School, many of whom were more to be pitied than blamed for the reasons that sent them there.

He noted the increased appropriation for mothers' pensions, but also noted more investigators were to be employed.

STARTED AN AVALANCHE
Touching on the subject of work and wages, he said he noted appeals were made for the parties to get together on this. Did the government think of getting together with the unemployed? he asked. When the government adopted the slogan of work and wages it started an avalanche which will finally overwhelm it, claimed the member.

Concluding, the speaker declared it was the object of the C.C.F. to fight the exploitation of the working classes for profits and called on the government to present a programme of work and wages at fair conditions for the workers before the House rose.

MR. SAVAGE
Hugh Savage, Independent Cowichan-Newcastle, noted the budget this year anticipated a deficit of $7,500,000. Perhaps many people could not grasp millions quickly and would realize it more if they knew that it meant a loss of $10 for every person in the province.

"We are making no attempt to live within our income, or progressively within our income. We are making no effort to cut down our expenses. That, to me, is a very sad and disappointing state of affairs," said the speaker.

Mr. Savage described it as a Dickensian budget, like the character of Wilkins' Micawber, "waiting for something to turn up." There were many avenues, many of which were in the building, where expenses could be cut down.

The speaker deplored the lack of provision for sinking funds which, he said, set a bad example to municipalities and individuals of the province.

"When provinces set examples like that I think we should ask ourselves, where are we going to?" said the speaker, claiming the government should be progressive and business-like.

"Every right-thinking man and woman in the province must aid the province if it is to get out of the mess it is in," he said. Again expressing disappointment with the budget, Mr. Savage said he believed the government was playing right into the hands of the Socialists.

Financial Revision Due Says Johnson

Dominion Government Must Aid Provinces, Says Victoria Member; Export Trade Solution of Present Troubles

Trade offered the only solution of British Columbia's economic and its hope of getting out of its present difficulties rested in the export market, Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria, stated during the budget debate in the B.C. Legislature yesterday.

"If we only sit here to collect and disperse revenue, we are not doing all we should for the province. We must strive to create those markets which are necessary," Mr. Johnson declared. "We cannot get the proper trading arrangements with the representation of the west has at Ottawa and we must do everything we can to educate Ottawa along the lines of reciprocal agreements that are necessary to develop those markets we need."

Mr. Johnson said he was in accord with arguments that had been advanced that the primary producer should get more for his goods, but it would be impossible to lift the province up by the local market alone.

AFTER WORKS PROGRAMME
"The trade only lies the solution of our problems," the Victoria member emphasized. "Public works can only provide a temporary measure of relief. This administration will have to find something to meet the situation after the public works programme is exhausted."

Mr. Johnson mentioned he had been criticized for stating that export trade offered the solution, but for the benefit of C.C.F. members would point out that Russia had recently entered into a treaty with Britain to trade on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Pointing to the $32,000,000 revenue contribution the province made to the Dominion Government, Mr. Johnson said the time had arrived for a complete revision of government financing and taxation.

He commended the Finance Minister for the way he had faced the unpleasant task of handing down a deficit budget. There had been some criticism because he had not cut down expenses more by cutting the cost of government services and the staff. "To use the words of a newspaper friend of mine, 'the revolution will not be put off a day by firing a few stenographers or reducing a few salaries,'" commented the speaker.

FINANCIAL REVISION
He believed the government was sincere in its desire to make a revision of the cost of administration and in the relationships of the provinces and the municipalities and the province and was thoroughly satisfied to give them time to do so. He thought the Dominion Government was taking the wrong attitude in stating the provinces must take care of themselves and thought the province would take the wrong attitude to say the municipalities should take care of themselves. There must be co-operation.

"The municipalities will have to get more revenue than they get today and I believe this government will give it to them," the speaker remarked.

Mr. Johnson defended the B.C. Cement Company against remarks directed against it by Ernest Bakewell, C.C.F. Mackenzie, in regard to operations in the town and employment of Oriental labor.

He then turned his attention to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, pointing out that in the last twelve or fourteen years $40,000,000 had been spent out of general revenue on the road. For this reason he was heartily in accord with the government proposal to top the line over to the C.N.R. and fully realized that the original investment could never be secured in return.

The $40,000,000 spent out of general revenue on the P.G.E. would have been much better devoted to road development in the period, he said. The Carling and Bridge River areas might have received this attention.

HIGHWAY BOARD
He then made a direct appeal for establishment of a highway board and urged it take in hand the development of a ten or fifteen-year plan for future road construction. This was the time when such planning should be done in preparation for work programmes. A permanent system, anticipating the needs years ahead, should be laid down. If this had been done in the past there would not be so many roads in the interior finishing nowhere and leading nowhere.

Mr. Johnson dealt with Vancouver Island's position in the province, urging a greater return for taxes paid by the people of the island in the way of expenditure by the government. He added an appeal for support for the Capital City beautification scheme, under which the government would provide funds for beautifying Victoria.

In conclusion he appealed for the solid support from the people of B.C. for the government in any of its recovery moves.

"It appears a showdown is imminent," he said, "and when it comes the measure of success it achieves will reflect the amount of support which the people, both opposition and government alike, give to our policies."

Cut Bondholders McGeer Advocates

Something more effective than a reconversion loan was needed to take British Columbia out of its troubles, declared G. G. McGeer, K.C., Independent Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, during the debate on the budget in the Legislature yesterday.

Vigorously voicing an attack on the present monetary system, Mr. McGeer argued that for their own protection bondholders should be warned that not only must they take interest lower than 3 per cent, but the capital amount of the bonds must also be reduced.

"You are not doing a man an injustice if you see him on the brink of danger and warn him of that danger," said Mr. McGeer in declaring that sooner or later there had to be a showdown and the government must have the courage to face the issue. The sooner this was done the sooner the bondholders would be placed on a sound foundation.

He pictured Premier Bennett as a large bondholder who had seen railroads go bankrupt and provinces and municipalities sink deeper in the mire.

"You cannot get much help there," he said. "This government was elected on a policy of reform and it should not be pardoned for temporizing with a government such as that Premier Bennett is leading."

FUNDAMENTAL CHANGES
Mr. McGeer said he offered his comments with a deep and profound sense of duty. To those who had not labored under the idea that the depression would pass in some miraculous way and it was not necessary for the province and the Dominion to come at once into definite grips with the financing of modern government industry and social activity, the budget was a sorry disappointment.

He touched on his campaign for great and fundamental changes in the monetary system and the general system of government which were subjects, he said, on which men in many walks of life hesitated to form an opinion upon.

He offered a word of praise for the presentation of the budget for its frankness in revealing the financial position of the province. "We had been led to believe the financial condition of the province was better than it was, but in this presentation there was no mincing of facts. Except for the saving estimated to be secured from refunding and unpaid sinking funds it was a plain, cold statement of facts."

Mr. McGeer presented the opinions of a number of well-known economists to support his own arguments against credit monopoly, resting with the banks. Money dealers and credit racketeers had secured power which should be part of the public domain and should be used for financing government. They had made the entire wealth of a nation subservient to those who lived by credit. The budget was a tragedy, the revelation of the dire straits to which this system had forced the former Minister of Finance. Trust funds, pension funds, special funds and even the official guardian's funds for the benefit of children had been raided.

NATIONAL CREDIT
The speaker quoted instances to show how the national credit was being used in Russia for the benefit of the people, while in Canada people were taxed, he claimed, to satisfy the rapacious demands of unbridled usury. He quoted figures on the condition of B.C. municipalities and the province. The province in 1910 paid debt-carrying charges of $335,000. To-day they amounted to $6,000,000 and with sinking funds to $11,000,000.

"While the budget was a splendid statement of fact it was pitifully lacking in effective diagnosis of the cause or direction of the way we might expect to escape from this condition," said the speaker, "except for the bondholders' Roman holiday—a reconversion loan." By reconversion, proceeded Mr. McGeer, it was hoped to reduce interest from possibly 4 per cent to 3 or 3.50. A possible $3,000,000 saving was not greatly effective with a deficit of $8,000,000, he claimed.

"It is like cheering a drowning man under 200 feet of water because he rises four or five feet from the bottom. You can drown under five or six millions just as easily as you can drown under eight millions," he commented.

SCORES BANK CREDIT
The speaker saw little relief in the proposed Bank Act, which had all the monopolistic features of the act creating the Bank of England and provided more restrictions on credit. Its power to help the municipalities was out of the picture.

"During the course of his attack on the present monetary system, Mr. McGeer contrasted the billions of life allowances and camp conditions, wealth produced in Canada with realty and we call ourselves a Christian country and boast of our democratic institutions," he commented.

"This budget is a challenge to the people of British Columbia," he said. "And what I want to do is to see the government attack the root cause of our troubles and lay the foundation for a better civilization by removing the money monopoly of this country," he said.

Mr. McGeer dealt at considerable length with biblical references to usury and economy, winding up with a description of Christ's great practical lesson in economy, his final lesson to humanity, which culminated in the crucifixion.

"We have been toying and toying and tinkering with interest, but laying down no course of definite political action," Mr. McGeer declared in enlarging his discourse upon the refunding plan.

"We don't want a temporary relief. We want permanent and lasting reform. We expect a Liberal government to lead the movement against our bankers and credit controllers."

It was all right talking about scenery and natural resources, but what the people wanted to know was how the purchasing power could be distributed so everyone could enjoy these things.

"In no section of our system does social paganism express itself so much as in the subservient attitude of governments to the control of usury."

"Our problem is not really bankruptcy, but to increase the spending power of governments so they can meet their twentieth century obligations, and you can't do that without increasing the cost of government."

Mr. McGeer spoke of the opportunities which exist in the way of work for the people of Canada. If credit could be furnished every municipal and provincial government for public works which they wished to inaugurate, there would not be enough people to provide labor for the work, he claimed.

TO-MORROW'S TAG DAY

AT THE STREET CORNERS OF THE city to-morrow collectors will be on hand with tags in the hope that a goodly supply of funds will be donated for the maintenance of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms—operated to relieve some of the monotony of those who are unable to find steady employment.

It should be noted that this institution was established more than two years ago, sponsored by the churches of the city, and financed entirely by voluntary subscription. The sole expenditure involved is that for the wages of two supervisors, rent for the building, light, telephone, and modest office expenses, amounting altogether to an average bill of $200 a month. About 250 men make use of the premises daily, while contact with the institution has resulted in many hundreds getting odd jobs, which has meant that not a few have been kept entirely off relief during the last two years. In some cases men have been placed in permanent employment through the offices of the supervisors and those of our citizens who take an active interest in the conduct of the rooms.

Through generous donations of all forms of reading material it has been possible to build up an imposing library, and the proof that this is appreciated is found in the fact that more than 400 books are loaned to the men each month. It will be understood, therefore, that the work carried on by the institution has been of untold moral value to many in the ranks of our local idlers. So it is hoped that to-morrow's response to the appeal for funds will be a generous one.

HE WENT OUT WORKING

THE OLD, OLD MYSTERY OF LIFE and death—how we hunt for an answer, in books and in poetry and in long, secret communings with our own hearts! And how often do we run into insignificant human incidents which gleam brightly—if we have eyes to see them—like beacon lights briefly displayed in the limitless darkness. Here is one such incident. It is a thing hardly worth talking about, perhaps; yet it does not take either a poet or a visionary to read into it a hint and a promise touching on this oldest and deepest of riddles.

A story has reached The Times office of a man who lay dying a week or so ago, a man over sixty, who had been a hard-working printer all his life, who had set some miles of type and lived one of those useful and unsung lives, and who now was leaving the world in a white hospital cot.

He had pneumonia, and an oxygen tent had been put over him. The watchers at his bedside saw his hands moving fitfully, and lifted a flap to look at and see if he wanted anything. He did not; he was delirious, and he thought he was back on the job—and he was setting type! Deftly his hands moved about in the empty air, tapping invisible keys. Then, a moment later, he died, and went to find out whatever it is that a human soul may learn about this first and last of mysteries.

There is no logical reason why this homely little happening should be so moving. And yet it is. That tired veteran, clinging to his job even in his last seconds on earth, going out into the infinite with his hands still working at the task to which he had given himself—there is something about the picture that makes all our wisdom seem futile and of no account.

For he stands, somehow, for the whole race of undistinguished and faithful men; those men who work hard and steadily from youth to the grave, never knowing precisely why they are doing it, never reaping much of anything in the way of a reward, being faithful and patient simply because faith and patience are put into the human heart—and going out, at last, with their hands still moving on the old job.

SEDITION AND PERSONAL LIBERTY

PREMIER TASCHEREAU'S BILL requiring a permit from the chief of police or mayor in any community in Quebec before a public meeting can be held—unless it be for "electoral, municipal, scholastic, or religious purposes"—and the recent acquittal in Toronto of Mr. A. E. Smith, general secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League, on a charge of having used defamatory language, continue to attract the attention of a fairly large section of the press of Canada. It will be remembered that Mr. Smith was alleged to have made a reference to Premier Bennett and the Kingston penitentiary riots—with a particular reference to Tim Buck, a Communist incarcerated there.

The case now being disposed of, The Toronto Star says it thinks the prosecution of Mr. Smith on the charge of sedition was ill-advised on the part of the authorities and seemed to have its origin in the activity of policemen rather than in the sound consideration of the matter by authorities more competent in handling the affairs of the crown.

If Mr. Smith in his speech had said anything about Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett that was unlawful for one man to say of another, he could have been prosecuted for slander. The laws are there and the courts are available. Why should it be regarded as seditious to attack Mr. Bennett, The Star continues, and not seditious to attack Hon. H. H. Stevens or Hon. R. C. Matthews? Is it to be considered seditious to attack a party leader one year when he holds office and not seditious the next year when he is out of office? It then says:

"The address of Chief Justice Rose explaining the law of sedition and the nature of the language that is to be construed as seditious was an exceedingly able deliverance and nobody could hear or read it without admiring its lucid reasoning on an elusive subject. It is quite evident that sedition is a crime rather beyond the capacity of a policeman on his beat to cope with. The best-trained minds in the service of the crown can alone be entrusted with the task of dealing with it. Nor is it a crime likely to be met with around every corner. There have been very few cases of it in Canada and we feel sure there will be few. It can be nobody's desire to have it on the police court docket every morning."

Personal liberty, moreover, has been a much-discussed topic in Great Britain recently, due very largely to the activities of the Black Shirts, organized by Sir Oswald Mosley, and egged on by the Rothermere newspapers. But Sir John Simon at Glasgow recently said some excellent things on the rights of the individual. Of his speech The Manchester Guardian has this to say in part:

"We do not want any private organizations for keeping order in this country, and order should be kept by responsible authorities for whom ministers of the Crown and elected local bodies are answerable. Admirably said, but what we do not want we must prevent: must not, then, the government put down any attempt by private organizations to take the administration of the law into their own hands, as, for instance, by 'arresting' and forcibly removing alleged offenders? Certainly it must, for that is a habit which, unless sternly checked, may spread with serious consequences."

"OUR GREATEST SALVATION"

IT IS CLEAR FROM HIS REMARKS IN the Legislature that Mr. Herbert Anscomb, Independent member for Victoria, does not favor a reduction in the interest rate paid to holders of provincial securities. Indeed, he went so far as to say that "the greatest salvation of our people at the moment is high interest rates," and he gave as his reason for advancing this contention that "the higher these rates the less the government can afford to borrow, and that is at least some check on our debt increase."

It would be interesting to learn what the home-owner who, for example, may be paying seven or, perhaps, eight per cent on the mortgage against his property thinks about a system in operation to-day which Mr. Anscomb says is "the greatest salvation of our people." There is a universal condition of considerably lower wages than existed a few years ago—when contracts were entered into between borrower and lender. And where there is any solid foundation in the argument—implied by the Independent member for Victoria—that although the borrower, whether a person or state, having agreed to pay a certain rate of interest when the ability to meet the obligation was a reasonable one, should be denied relief when the ability to meet that obligation has been very considerably impaired?

Mr. Anscomb says Mr. Hart's refunding policy is a novel one. What objection from the Independent member for Victoria should there be to a plan which the Canadian government, the government of Great Britain, the governments of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have adopted? Are we to assume that the Finance Ministers of other parts of the empire besides the Dominion of Canada have gone off the financial deep-end, that they have missed, in their innocence, a theory that "the greatest salvation of our people at the moment is high interest rates?"

"The mistake of our governments to-day," we read from Mr. Anscomb's speech, "is that they are looking backward all the time instead of looking forward. The Finance Minister has based his hopes on what he was able to do in 1917. It is no use supposing that because he did something fifteen years ago he can do it again to-day." This is a strange argument as it applies to refunding policies. Canada refunded part of her debt some time ago in order to lighten the weight of the carrying charges. The Conservative government of Great Britain has been hailed as the saviour of the people of those islands because it overhauled its financial policy and refunded a large part of its debt at a lower rate of interest. Financial experts are making much of the fact that Australia, only a year or so ago in a critical financial state, has found her way out of an economic morass by the refunding route. Admittedly, British Columbia is merely a province of Canada, but the principle of Mr. Hart's plan is the principle adopted so successfully by other parts of the empire.

How can the government of British Columbia be accused of looking backward in this regard in view of the savings which Mr. Hart outlined in his budget speech? It is obviously the future to which he is looking. And, to put it briefly, a world condition demands that money now must not be allowed a profit which is disproportionate to the earnings of the men and women who toil.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE PRIZE STORY

The Financial Post

The Washington Press Gallery's January award for the most plausible "true story" of the month went by unanimous vote to Frederick William Wile, internationally known publicist and radio commentator. Meeting a celebrated foreign visitor, who had not been in the United States for ten years, Mr. Wile asked: "What change in America impresses you most?"

"Well," the visitor replied instantly, "if I had walked down Broadway in 1924 with a bottle of whisky and a $10 gold piece, I'd have been arrested for having the whisky. Now I'd be arrested for having the gold piece."

SEVENTY YEARS UNPAID

London Correspondence of The New York Times

John Drinkwater, toasting the ancient printing house of Thomas de la Rue Company, solemnly recalled how, during the American Civil War, the rebel states sent agents to England and induced De la Rue's to print stamps. These were smuggled into the United States, enabling the Confederacy to carry on important secret services.

The guests still were cheering the account of this feat when the chairman of the De la Rue Company, S. S. Lambert, rose to say: "Mr. Drinkwater has not recounted that the company is still awaiting payment for those stamps."

Amid roars of laughter he added: "It may easily be calculated how far that sum at compound interest would go to offset the war debt Britain owes to the United States."

Across the Bay

Mr. McGeer rouses 'em up again—and gets away with a dangerous experiment—by venturing into a realm where angels fear to tread—Mr. King thinks he is a good investment—and Mr. Uphill quotes some wisdom.

By H. B. W.

ROUSING

MR. GERRY MCGEER spent another afternoon Thursday in rousing, flesh-creeping and finally evangelizing the hard-boiled Legislature of British Columbia. He did it with customary competence in what, apparently, is to be a kind of much-needed economics course for the financial illiterates of politics. He held up the dead hand of usury and the failures of the Pattullo government; he denounced social paganism and the timidity of his friend Mr. Hart; he tore the bankers and the budget limb from limb; and finally this remarkable man, who alone among British Columbia politicians could get away with such a thing and not look either ridiculous or hypocritical, preached such a moving sermon on Jesus as might grace any Christian church.

Perhaps it was a bit too rambling, a bit long on quotations and a bit short on positive suggestions. But the House must remember that this is only the second of the series of educational addresses with which Mr. McGeer hopes to redeem this House from its obvious ignorance of his theories. This was designed, as it were, to lay the groundwork for a final explanation later of his currency and credit plans which, as he said, would prove "have won recognition not only here but in other countries."

DISAPPOINTMENT

IT DIDN'T take Mr. McGeer long to dispose of the budget—a public service in revealing the grisly facts of our finances but a sorry disappointment to those who had expected real action from this government. As for the great refunding scheme, Mr. McGeer thought Mr. Hart was a trifle optimistic in expecting any relief thereby as it would probably turn out to be only a "Roman holiday" for the bankers who handled it for the government.

Briefly then, because he will elaborate these things when the banking question comes up later, Mr. McGeer told of the development of modern currency and credit, told how money of actual intrinsic value had become obsolete almost a century ago, and how the bankers, by grabbing the right to control credit, the real life stream of modern commerce had got the world by the tail. For, by controlling this "obvious" public utility which should be used only for the good of humanity, they had fattened on their usury while civilization, paying interest on what it should have for nothing, went bankrupt.

AUTHORITIES

PERHAPS sensitive to the notion among some people that he is a lonely theorist without backing, Mr. McGeer read at length letters endorsing his ideas from the London Chamber of Commerce and from no less an authority than the great Maynard Keynes, who had written him personally. But these letters were not necessary to show that Mr. McGeer is not alone in his ideas; he has the backing of the House in his knowledge of these matters, that he has digested in the last few years a whole mountain of economic learning from the ancient Jew to the election of the Pattullo government.

His purpose was to show that behind the present bankruptcy are the relations of the new budget not British Columbia, but the whole economic system, had broken down, and only the reconstruction of the system, through the proper use of credit, could save us from complete ruin. All that Mr. Hart could do by his refunding scheme was like taking a man who was drowning in 200 feet of water and pulling him up four or five feet, where he would drown just as surely.

NO SURPRISE

MR. MCGEER looked about the world and said he was not surprised at its appalling condition. He had expected it and he had documents to prove that he had expected it. He read some of them, including a letter he had written to Premier Bennett in 1932, predicting the present situation—a situation in which we had produced four and a half billions of wealth in ten years and yet now, because of our monetary system, couldn't feed our people when our gold, silver and wheat was worth 60 cents a bushel.

Yes, Mr. McGeer had expected the crisis and he had expected the Pattullo government, following the Liberal policy of national credit, to do something about it. But what had it done? Nothing but suggest federal loans for a temporary works programme which would be utterly useless. He had expected the government to be in Ottawa when the Bank Act was under review, demanding these permanent reforms; instead of which people were talking of our natural resources, our mountains and our scenery—a barbed point for Mr. Pattullo, who had talked of these things the previous day.

But all this was only preliminary to the real strength of Mr. McGeer's speech, and a trifle long. His real point was in the last fifteen minutes, when he ascended from the depths of our economic plight to the heights of religion and ethics. He sought to prove not only that our banking system, our civilization based on usury is poor business, and disastrous in its effect, but fundamentally wrong and unethical in its conception.

PROPHETS

TO PROVE this he had delved into ancient and modern prophets and lore, from Nehemiah and Isaiah, to Wilson, Roosevelt and Mackenzie King. One can't get into a condensed and printed report like this anything like the effect of this very daring oratorical venture, for to bring religion into a political body is about the most dangerous feat a man can undertake. The justification was that somehow, not so much by what he said as how he said it, Mr. McGeer not only avoided being mushy and ridiculous, but in being impressive and perhaps moving.

Finally he assayed the highly difficult task of using Jesus as the first and chiefest enemy of the banking and credit racket. He told, with a curious touch of rough poetry, how Jesus scourged the money changers out of the temple and how finally He was crucified, not because He healed the sick and preached the Sermon on the Mount, but because He threatened to break down the money system of the day, the same system by which a small class to-day still fattened on the poverty of the people. Reported in his exact words probably it wouldn't sound like much, but as he told the story of Jesus' last talk with His disciples, of His going up to Jerusalem to certain crucifixion, even the hardest-boiled member of this assembly got the picture, powerfully painted in a fashion which few men would have attempted and fewer could have handled at all.

GOOD INVESTMENT

THE FIRST fruits of the Columbia by-election, in the person of Mr. King, appeared briefly. Mr. King sought to show that, after all, the living Columbia was no extravagance, since he spent his $1,000 indemnity and hired a man to run his store, who earned $1,300 a year and rented a house from a widow at $15, and she spent the money and so on, precisely like the cat that worried the rat that lived in the house that Jack built. In other words Mr. King was a good investment for British Columbia. Apart from that he made a brief speech about his riding and the need of finishing the Big Bend Road.

In the evening we pushed on grimly. Mr. Winch, the elder, made a good orthodox socialist speech, saw no hope in the budget, told of the malnutrition of school children, as revealed by the government's own health department, and demanded work and wages. These magic words brought the Premier to his feet, not in anger but in a jolly humor, to protest that the honorable member was reading his speech. Mr. Speaker Perry, who is kind to new members, asked the House to blame him for permitting this irregularity. Mr. Winch said he was having difficulty with his new glasses and couldn't see very well. Mr. Hanna suggested kindly that the House take the speech as read. Mr. Speaker said it must not be read. Mr. Winch went on reading it to the end.

WILD STUFF

MR. UPHILL then turned the chamber into customary confusion with another wild and woolly outburst. He started by adding this reporter to the long list of authorities quoted during the day, starting with Isaiah. From a copy of a newspaper he read an imaginary harangue which kept the House in a gale and was so humorous that it sounded very like this reporter would sound if anything humorous ever happened in this reformed Eighteenth Legislature in the year of the New Deal. He quoted this reporter as saying that if the government recanted all its election promises so suddenly it might die of embarrassment; that if we had the survival of the fittest only Mr. Uphill and Gerry would survive, because Mr. Uphill had been a hardy coal miner before he lost his innocence and became a statesman, and Gerry had been a boilermaker before he suddenly realized that he alone could save civilization; that the budget could never be balanced while a teetotalist cabinet refused to drink itself patriotically to death and so maintain government liquor revenues, whereas as men like Tom and Gerry, with greater capacities, could quickly put the treasury on its feet. Finally he quoted a letter he said he had just received from the Prince of Wales and when Mr. Pantis said the rules forbade disrespectful mention of the Royal Family, Mr. Speaker said he knew Tom wouldn't do such a thing, and Mr. Uphill said solemnly, "God bless the Prince of Wales, he's a friend of mine." Finally he showed that years ago he had moved to cut interest rates and no one would listen to him.

DICKENSIAN

MR. SAVAGE deplored the Dickensian budget in which the McGeer government was just waiting for something to turn up, and thus playing into the hands of the Socialists.

In his first speech since the election Mr. Pooley railed around in the good sporting style which we learned to expect from him. He called on everybody to forget party lines, to get solidly behind the government in meeting the crisis, to stop talking and to start working to-day, for to-morrow it would be too late. He even rallied around Mr. Pattullo in proclaiming this the most talented Legislature in history.

Late at night, after a weary day, Mr. Johnson of Victoria, showed once more that he is one of the most promising young men introduced into provincial politics by the last election. His speech, outside of Mr. McGeer's, quite the best of the day, was constructive, thoughtful and delivered with a new confidence. He urged export trade as the real way out, for works programmes were only temporary, and suggested a campaign of education to show Ottawa the need for reciprocal trade treaties. And so at last the House solemnly resolved that Mr. Speaker do now leave the chair and the budget debate was over. Now begins the grim business of granting supply to His Majesty, who certainly will not get enough from the provincial treasury this year to meet expenses.

THE CHIROPRACTIC BILL

To the Editor:—In reference to the editorial article in Saturday's Colonist of March 10 on the Chiropractic Bill, I would like to quote a few references from an article on "The Limitations of the Expert," written by Harold Laak in one of the issues of Harper's magazine for the year 1930:

"For special knowledge and the highly-trained mind produce their own limitations which are of decisive importance. Expertise, it may be argued, sacrifices the insight of common sense to intensity of experience. It breeds an inability to accept new views from the very nature of its own training."

Ovation For New Candidate

Alan Chambers Received With Enthusiasm at Duncan Meeting

Unemployment was the matter of first concern in Canada today and both Dominion and provincial governments should bend their efforts before anything else to the liberation of internal trade and furtherance of external trade as a means to put people back to work, Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate for the federal constituency of Nanaimo, said, in addressing an enthusiastic meeting in the Agricultural Hall at Duncan Wednesday evening.

B. Young, president of the Duncan Liberal Association, introduced the recently-nominated candidate who was given a cordial reception by the audience.

NATIONAL PROBLEM
Unemployment was a national problem, said Mr. Chambers and not, as Premier Bennett said in his speech in Vancouver, a municipal affair primarily. The Dominion Government should lead the way in the national recovery by the setting up of a national commission as proposed by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King by means of which the use of the national credit would be the instrument in stimulating industry and trade internally.

Reciprocal reduction of tariffs by the various nations would prove to the advantage not only of Canada as a whole but particularly to the west of Canada which was essentially an exporting country. The furtherance of these policies could only be brought about by the most wholehearted co-operation of the Dominion and provincial governments.

In the course of his address Mr. Chambers claimed that the repeal of the outworn Section 98 of the Criminal Code was long overdue. Any prevention of free speech in a British country such as now existed under this section was not in the interests of traditional fair play. The Liberal Party was pledged to repeal this section.

David Ramsay complimented the riding on its choice of a candidate especially in view of the fact that young men of to-day were playing an increasingly important part and taking a more vital interest in the affairs of Canada at this time.

At the close of the address Mrs. J. Collis in moving a vote of thanks to the speakers expressed commendation of the constructive nature of the speeches and pleasure at the absence of partisan recriminatory remarks.

An informal executive meeting was later held at which plans for the formation of a Young Liberals Association were discussed.

NOTED ITALIAN TO SPEAK HERE

Signor L. Villari Coming Under Education Council Auspices

"An Italian Looks on England" is the title of the public address to be given by Signor Luigi Villari, M.C., in the Empress Hotel next Wednesday evening under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

Signor Villari is the son of the eminent Italian historian, Pasquale Villari, and an English mother, and was born in Florence. In 1906 Signor Villari entered the Italian foreign office where he was attached to the emigration department. He spent some years in the United States as vice-consul in New Orleans and then in Philadelphia, and later as acting consul in Boston. In 1910 he returned to Rome, and worked in different departments of the foreign office and the colonial office, until the outbreak of the World War, when he volunteered for service and joined up when Italy declared war as an officer of the territorial cavalry.

He was attached to different units in Italy, and early in 1917 was sent to join the Italian expeditionary force in Macedonia. He remained there until February, 1919, when he was transferred to Constantinople as liaison officer with the British army of the Black Sea. After a short stay in Italy he returned to Turkey as secretary of the inter-allied commission of inquiry into the events connected with the Greek occupation of Smyrna.

In 1919 Signor Villari returned to Italy and was appointed to the staff of the League of Nations secretariat at Geneva, in which capacity he attended many international conferences. For some time he has been residing in London.

VISITS HERE TWICE YEARLY

George Robbie of Missoula, Mont., Says CWA Has Proved Life-saver

George Robbie of Missoula, Mont., who has been coming to Victoria annually for twenty years and now makes the trip twice a year, is back in the city.

Mrs. Robbie is a druggist in Missoula and has made such a success of his business that he is now able to leave it in charge of his son, and take long tours which invariably end on this coast.

"There is no question that the NRA is helping recovery in the United States. While it does not cut much figure in the west, its effect is being felt tremendously in the manufacturing centres of the east," said Mr. Robbie in an interview at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"Under the development that is taking place under the CWA (Civil Works Administration), the retail trade has increased from 20 to 25 per cent. It has proved a life-saver," Mr. Robbie recalled that he was in Victoria last October, and he expects to be back by the end of the present summer.

LOGGING PLAN IS ADVOCATED

Selective Methods For B.C. Immediately Urged By Ernest Bakewell

Advocating that the government undertake a test operation of its own on selective logging, on the lines of similar tests conducted in Oregon, Ernest Bakewell, C.C.F., Mackenzie, told the Legislature yesterday that such a move was essential to "allay the growing discontent among the public over the ruthless and unprofitable destruction of our forests."

Superintending of the test operation should be left entirely in the hands of the forest branch, which would select a suitable site, secure the necessary machinery and get to work.

The initial cost would be small, he said, in comparison to the monetary and general benefits accruing from it. Stumpage costs might rise from $1.25 to $4 a thousand and still be beneath the present operating costs.

Test operations could lead to logging on a co-operative basis in which the government could retain the equity of its initial investment in the way of services and machinery, he said.

Since the government had power to set regulations on utilization standards, logging methods and reservation of seed trees, it could force private interests to adopt similar methods.

WOULD BE ADAPTABLE
"There is no question," he said, "that these methods are adaptable to what the majority of B.C. timberland without the slightest modification, and in a great many others, with only a few changes. However, operators will not take kindly to the incursion of these new methods for two reasons; firstly, that they do not like to face the replacement of their heavy machinery now in use and, secondly, because they realize that the introduction of flexible machinery means selective control to the 'nth degree, and that the government would therefore be in a position to stipulate exactly how their operations were to be conducted, what timber they should take out and what they should leave. Oregon has done the same work for B.C., there is no longer reason to hesitate."

"The youth of to-day does not want another war. They are in no mood for it, and certainly the youth of Canada will not take part in another war," stated Donald Brewster, speaking before the father and son luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel. The programme was in charge of the boys' work committee, headed by Jack McKay.

"The youth of to-day realizes much more will be lost than gained by another war," Mr. Brewster said. "Youth is unalterably opposed to another war."

Mr. Brewster chose as his subject, "The Boys' Impression of Present Day Conditions." He said the older generation had failed to display resourcefulness, and had put forth no constructive effort in handling present day conditions. They had understood these conditions, Mr. Brewster said, but had failed to offer anything for their solution.

"The time has come," Mr. Brewster said, "when we must make a change. We must forget the customs and traditions of the past. The present organization of society has reached the end of its tether."

GROSSLY NEGLIGENT
"The older generation has been grossly negligent in the fulfillment of its social responsibilities to mankind," the speaker continued. "The only hope lies in new thoughts and new ideas."

MORE EDUCATION
Making a plea on behalf of the youth of Canada for more education, William Findlay spoke on "What the Youth of To-day Thinks of the Men of To-day."

Mr. Findlay said: "Youth of to-day, Mr. Findlay said, may have its lighter moments, but it is a more serious minded youth when it can intelligently discuss topics of world-wide interest and take an interest in them."

"Give us the chance of education and we will not fail you," Mr. Findlay said. He approved the recent legislation of the Minister of Education, in which the age limit for pupils was changed from sixteen to eighteen and also commended the additional grant to the University of British Columbia. He said it was much better to spend money on the university than on relief camps.

"Our leaders have betrayed us," the speaker said. "We want leaders of action, and if you won't let us have them we will throw you out of office and take over leadership ourselves. We want to be active. That is one thing we find with you. You tell us to wait and everything will be all right. What we want is more progressive leadership."

In thanking the speakers for their interesting talks, R. W. Mayhew reminded the youth of to-day that if they could add as much to Canada as did their fathers and grandfathers they would have nothing of which to be ashamed.

The programme included two recitations by M. Lyle, a cornet solo by Byron Price, with George Ozard at the piano, and two vocal solos by Kenneth Tupper, with Miss Whitaker at the piano.

WOULD PREVENT STOCK INCREASE

Saanich Council Institutes Move Against B.C. Telephone Co. Application

A united protest from British Columbia cities and municipalities against the proposed effort of the British Columbia Telephone Company to increase its capital stock by $10,000,000 was instituted by the Saanich Council yesterday evening.

The matter was brought forward in a resolution which drew attention to the application which the company was making at Ottawa for an increase in capital.

A public utilities commission was being mooted, the council was reminded, which would take care of such applications.

The council unanimously endorsed laying over the application for a year and supported a suggestion that cities and municipalities of the province be circulated in protest. The circular will request the districts to have their provincial and federal members of parliament vote against the issue.

PETITION FOR EXTRA RELIEF

Whether or not Saanich will adopt the 10 per cent relief allowance for food, recently instituted by the provincial government, will be left at the discretion of the relief committee, it was decided at a council meeting yesterday evening.

The council received a copy of the telegram sent to all municipalities by the relief administrator and also a largely signed petition from the unemployed requesting it to adopt the increase.

It is believed, however, the matter will not be thoroughly considered until this year's budget is passed, when, if possible, the increase will be budgeted for if it can be done without making a material increase in the relief appropriation.

The communication was referred to the relief committee for action.

Ellen Winifred Syme Bradshaw of Crofton, B.C., was yesterday granted a divorce from George Henry Bradshaw of Duncan by Justice Robertson in the Supreme Court. Mr. M. McInnes appeared for Mr. Bradshaw.

UPHILL LIVENS NIGHT SESSION

Reminds House Years Ago He Was For Six-hour Day and Lower Interest

Thomas Uphill, the Fernie Labor man, lived up the dragging hours of the first night sitting of the Legislature yesterday evening with his quips and droll remarks. In serious passages Mr. Uphill took pride in the fact that as far back as 1922 he advocated a six-hour day, which was now being generally called for. He also quoted from the records to show that several years ago he attacked high interest rates, which the government was now seeking to reduce.

He skipped from one subject to another and from one member to another, leaving the following in his wake:

"I'm not looking for the work; I'm looking for the wages."

"At this moment I'm several yards ahead of the government and traveling pretty fast."

"While I don't agree with all Gerry (G. McGeer, K.C.) says, he is my legal and spiritual adviser."

"A woman's worst enemy is her own sex"—in reference to women in-vestments in pension plans.

"I was a coal miner before I lost my innocence and became a statesman."

"Since this tectonic government came into office the liquor sales have fallen off alarmingly and the sooner it starts to drink itself patriotically to death the better. It will never balance its budget."

"Mr. Speaker, you told me when you sat on the opposition benches that in the budget you could talk on anything from Eaton's catalogue to the Bible."

"The khaki shirt I wore on opening day was the most expensive in the House—I did not know I had it on. But it's good, because you wear it two weeks and then turn it."

"The government should be a model employer and not employ stenographers at only $780 a year. I've seen them slinging hash and getting more than that."

Mr. Uphill advocated reduction of interest rates and told how he had moved ten years ago for such action.

He urged orderly reforestation, but pointed out there was "no use protecting timber for the lumbermen when they are paying only 15 cents an hour."

He made a strong plea for aid for his home town of Fernie and declared if the place went bankrupt it would be no good sending in an administrator unless something was also done to revive the industries there and get the men back to work. Fernie wanted a moratorium on its bonded indebtedness as an immediate source of relief, he declared.

Ellen Winifred Syme Bradshaw of Crofton, B.C., was yesterday granted a divorce from George Henry Bradshaw of Duncan by Justice Robertson in the Supreme Court. Mr. M. McInnes appeared for Mr. Bradshaw.

WAR OF WORDS' TRUCE CALLED

Vancouver Newspaper to Apologize and Victoria Editor to Drop Charge

The "war of words" between the three daily newspapers of Victoria and Vancouver—The New Republic and The Chinese Times, respectively—has been brought to an end, according to a statement issued by the lawyers on both sides.

Under the terms of the truce, The Chinese Times agrees to publish an apology for all that it has been printing about Tsun Yen Yen, editor of the Victoria paper, and his wife. In return, the Victoria editor and his wife agree to drop their libel suit.

Following extended pre-trial hearings conducted here by Frank Higgins, K.C., counsel for the Victoria plaintiffs, and J. W. deB. Parris, K.C., counsel for the Vancouver defendants, the trial was set down to start here before Mr. Justice Robertson and a special jury on March 26. Move to empanel the jury has now been cancelled by Sheriff Goggin.

INCREASE IN RELIEF SOUGHT

For the purpose of asking the Equivalents Council to introduce the relief scale outlined by the provincial government, a delegation of the unemployed named Wednesday evening will wait on the reeve and members of the council at a special meeting next Monday. The delegation will also request that people on relief be allowed free water and that the scale for single men be increased to $16.50 monthly.

A delegation of twelve interviewed Reeve Alexander Lockley yesterday in connection with immediate relief until such times as the council decides on its policy in this connection. The reeve stated that relief would be given for this month, but future relief was a matter that would be decided at next Monday's meeting.

Whether or not Saanich will adopt the 10 per cent relief allowance for food, recently instituted by the provincial government, will be left at the discretion of the relief committee, it was decided at a council meeting yesterday evening.

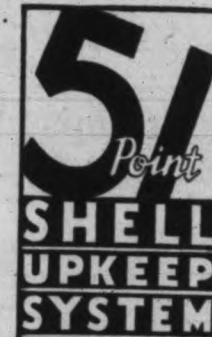

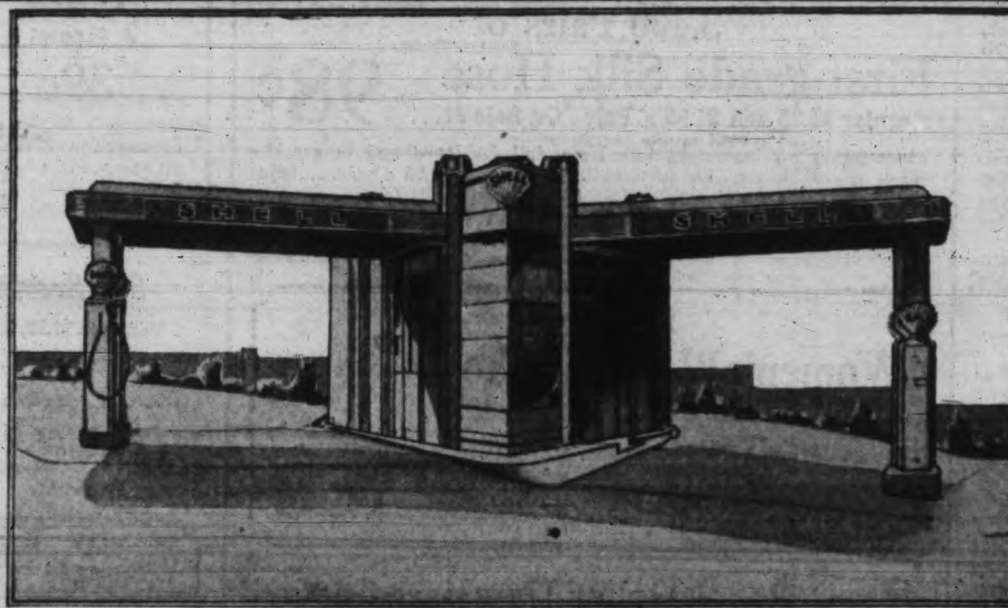

The council received a copy of the telegram sent to all municipalities by the relief administrator and also a largely signed petition from the unemployed requesting it to adopt the increase.

It is believed, however, the matter will not be thoroughly considered until this year's budget is passed, when, if possible, the increase will be budgeted for if it can be done without making a material increase in the relief appropriation.

Miss Mildred Greenwood Becomes Bride of Mr. Harry Tyson

The marriage of Miss Mildred Greenwood, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Greenwood, 3800 Fairmount Road, Victoria, to Mr. Harry Tyson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Tyson, 973 Inverness Street, Victoria, took place yesterday evening at the Douglas Street Baptist Church, with the Rev. F. W. McKinnon officiating. Mr. Harry Greenwood, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. She looked charming in a champagne-colored dress and carried a bouquet of Opheelia roses. Miss Agnes Pettigrew, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and was dressed in a pale green crepe, looking very pretty. Mr. David Tyson, with brother of the bridegroom, was best man for the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. F. W. McKinnon, organist, and during the signing of the register Mrs. J. Murrant sang "I Love You Truly." Ushers for the ceremony were Messrs. Wm. Tyson and Jack Greenwood.

After the service a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, which was prettily decorated with daffodils, lilacs and violets. The guests were received by Mrs. J. Greenwood and Mrs. Wm. Tyson, mother of the bride and bridegroom respectively. The two-tier wedding cake centered the attractively decorated supper table.

Among the many handsome gifts received was a mantle clock from the friends and members of the Douglas Street Baptist Church and Sunday School.

HERE'S THAT QUICK
WAY TO STOP A COLD

Take 2 Aspirin Tablets. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment 2 or 3 times a day.

Almost Instant Relief in This Way

The simple method pictured above is the way doctors throughout the world now treat colds.

It is recognized as the QUICK-EST, safest, surest way to treat a cold. For it will check an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get Aspirin Tablets. Aspirin is the trademark of The Bayer Company, Limited, and the name Bayer in the form of a cross, is on each tablet. They dissolve almost Colfax Rebekahs—Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, I.O.O.F., met Tuesday evening, with Noble Grand Mary McLeod presiding. Two applications for membership were received. Arrangements were made for members to attend district meeting at Nanaimo Saturday, March 24. The Misses A. Brown, M. Harris, E. Millward, E. Teague and Madeline M. Faver, M. Penman and M. Fleming were elected delegates to attend the district meeting. A St. Patrick's dance and bridge party was planned for next meeting, March 27.

Catholic Women's League—Owing to the absence through illness of the president, Mrs. R. A. Duncan, the March meeting of the Catholic Women's League was presided over by the vice-president, Mrs. P. Harris. The secretary-treasurer's report and the report for social service presented by Mrs. Fagan, together with the summary of sick visiting by Mrs. Potts, were received. Considerable correspondence was dealt with and all accounts ordered paid. Special offerings of flowers will be received from the congregation for the decoration of the Church of Our Lady Queen of Peace on Sunday.

Esquimalt League—In the absence of Mrs. R. A. Duncan, president, the March meeting of Esquimalt division Catholic Women's League was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. P. Harris, first vice-president. Mrs. Harris received the expressions of sympathy in the lines of Mrs. Duncan, and was able to report a steady improvement towards her recovery. Miss Louise Dugal, secretary-treasurer, gave a satisfactory account of both offices, and Mrs. Fagan reported for social service and Mrs. Potts for sick visiting were heard with interest. A good deal of correspondence was dealt with and all accounts ordered paid. Special donations of flowers will be received from the congregation for the decoration on Sunday of the Church of Our Lady Queen of Peace.

Members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. served a delightful St. Patrick's Day tea yesterday afternoon, under the convener'ship of Mrs. Florence St. Clair. Refreshments were served to the patients of the Jubilee Hospital. Individual trays were served to the patients, the decorative scheme being entirely Irish as befitting the occasion. Green baskets were filled with tempting white and green candies, also comic candy figures. The cakes were covered with green and white icing, and the accessories were decorated with shamrocks and green harps. The patients most thoroughly enjoyed the refreshments. The tea was assisted by the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. who were keenly anticipated by the patients.

Growing shamrocks and daffodils in profusion will provide the proper atmosphere for the St. Patrick's Day cabaret at the Empress Hotel to-night. The ballroom will look its best with a wealth of living green and yellow as the motif for the decorations. The front of the orchestra dais will be dressed with tastefully placed sprigs of shamrock and daffodils, while a huge shamrock flanked by smaller Irish emblems will form the background. The supper tables will be decorated with streamers of green and white with pot of gold and shamrock, and daffodils forming the centre pieces. The entertainment features will be typically Irish, including a toe dance by Berna Waring, appearing in a green celphane costume; an Irish jig by Adeline Grant, an Oriental presentation by Thelma Ackerman, and a special number by the dancing couple Mary Gootenka, Thelma Ackerman, Pat Pennock and "Doudie" McAlpine.

This morning's devotional services were in charge of Vancouver Presbyterian. Mrs. W. P. Woods, Mrs. J. S. Muldrew and Mrs. Hartwell assisting. Mrs. W. Miles sang a solo beautifully.

The courtesy committee tendered thanks on behalf of the conference to all who had assisted in the success of the annual meeting, with a special word of thanks to the press for their generosity.

NEW CIRCLES FORMED
Miss J. D. Ekins, reporting for the Mission Circles, stated that four new circles had been formed in Vancouver during the year. Victoria Presbyterian circles had made a very good showing a feature of their work being the sending of supply boxes to missionaries, and food and clothing to those in need. A new circle had been formed at Chilliwack.

At Salmon Arm, also a new circle had been formed last fall. This was busy working on layettes and studying missions. Makus and Port Simpson had new circles, too.

Mrs. E. C. Morris was hostess at a St. Patrick's bridge party at her home, 104 Cambridge Street, on Wednesday evening. Three tables were in play. The invited guests were the Messrs. Mabel Johnson, Molly Duncan, Mary Wilson, Vida Shandley, Dorothy Wells and Messrs. Ken Morris, Tommy Easton, Alan LeMarquand, Reg. Wilder, Hughie Stubbs and Bob Armstrong.

Mrs. H. Mercer and Mrs. R. Mercer were joint hostesses at a delightful shower on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Mollie Mercer, whose marriage will take place on April 7. Bridge was played, Miss Dorothea Daniels winning the prize, while the several amusing games arranged for the entertainment of the guests were won by Mrs. W. Sturrock and Miss Vivienne Nock. A dainty buffet supper was served. The guests included: Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. J. Leatham, Mrs. R. Jenkins, Mrs. D. Arty, Mrs. I. Scafe, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. J. W. Mercer, Mrs. R. Mercer, Mrs. H. Over 200 guests attended the "at home" held by the Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, at the Shrine Auditorium, when the Native Sons of Canada, the Junior Native Sons of Canada, and the Far-West Sons of Canada were special guests. The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. E. C. Stewart and Mrs. Reginald Milburn, who acted as general convener. Dancing, including novelty dances, were enjoyed, while cards, in charge of Mrs. J. E. Huxtable and Mrs. Mattison, were in progress for non-dancers. A buffet supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Mary Jones, the decorations being carried out in St. Patrick colors. Prior to the social, a business meeting was held, at which Mrs. Stewart presided. It was announced that a luncheon would be held at the Hudson's Bay Company on March 27 at 12 o'clock noon. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 3.

New Theory on Divorce Dorothy Dix

If You Give as Much Care to the Selection of Your Life Partner as You Do to the Buying of a Winter Coat, You Will Never Mistake the Cheap Sat Sponse for the Kind That Won't Wear

A WOMAN who is getting a divorce from her husband gives as her reason for leaving him that he didn't wear well. He got shiny, she says, wonder if that isn't the thing that is at the bottom of all divorces.

Hands and wives who are attracted enough on the surface, but who wear well. Who get shiny after first gloss of romance has worn who pull at the seams when the strain of everyday living comes them; who lose their color and dink under the scorching rays of adversity; whose wit and charm thin and threadbare with stant use.

For it takes men and women who are all wool and a yard wide and guaranteed not to shrink the wash to stand up under the wear and tear of matrimony. And a lot of people are not off that kind of bolt of cloth.

They are fine for parties, as pretty as a tulip ball. They sparkle and shine like a scarf. They are as glamorous pink chiffon negligee. They are romantic and alluring as fine broadcloth and linen. If life were one perpetual festivity, and all one wanted in a husband or wife was a playmate they would make ideal husbands and wives and every marriage would out happily.

Alas, however, marriage isn't a gay song and dance. It is more of a ball sentence, where we do the lock step instead of the rhum and have to whistle to keep our courage up, and what we need in a mate are men and women who are stout and strong and dependable and who will stick to our backs in fair weather or foul.

It is because there are so many men and women who are so good-looking and seem so exactly what one wants, as long as they are in the matrimonial showcase with all their good points displayed to the best advantage, as becoming light turned upon them, and who are so disappointing when they get them home and takes a good look at them, that there are so many divorces. It is just as it is when you buy a dress that takes your eye and looks like a million dollars at a casual glance, but that is so sleek goes to pieces when you wear it.

That is why so many marriages go into the ragbag. A man picks out a pretty little Dumb Dora for a wife because he admires her plump and white complexion and golden hair. Or he marries a girl because she is so vivacious and is always screaming and laughing at the top of her voice and he has a taste for loud colors. Or he chooses as a wife a woman who has a tongue like a two-edged sword because he is fascinated by her sparkle.

Then when he settles down to the long hard pull of domestic life finds out that the goods he purchased with his whole life was a bad gain. His wife isn't wearing well. Every thread of her isn't silk. St just filmy material that catches the eye, but that hasn't any body to it and that goes to rags and tatters in everyday wear.

And the man who marries the lively girl discovers that the life of a party can be the death of the home, and that the sort of a wife a man doesn't get tired of living with is one whose soul wears soft, quiet, gentle colors, not one who is decked out like a harlequinade. And the man who marries a wit has it borne in on him that a sarcastic wife can run his nerves just as much as a saw-toothed collar can.

Same way with women. They marry handsome young chaps with a fancy because they seem the answer to a maiden's prayer. They are as sweethearts, but they don't wear well as husbands. They get groggy and hard to live with, or take to drink, or philandering, or what not.

Many a woman looks at her husband as she does at a misfit drive or an unbecoming hat and wonders why on earth she bought it. Why she marvels, didn't she consider her needs more? Why didn't she get something that suited her lines better? Why didn't she get something more becoming? Why did she let her fancy run away with her judgment in making her choice? When she needed a bungalow-apron of her husband, why did she choose a scarlet-dancing-frock playboy? What what she needed was a fur-coat husband to keep her warm and comfortable, why did she invest her all in a filmy romantic hero who wouldn't last out the honeymoon?

Strange that when the wearing qualities of husbands and wives are most important things about them, men and women so seldom consider as well when selecting their mates. A man will marry a girl because she is a pretty face without ever trying to find out whether she has the sturder that will still keep him in love with her after the beauty and cl of youth are gone. A girl will marry a man because he has curly hair a good line without ever making a test to see if he is real gold only pinchbeck.

Perhaps if, when we went shopping for our mates, we would be as carefully at the material of which our life happiness is to be made as we do at that of which our coats are to be cut, more of us would have husbands and wives who wear well and there would be few divorces.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1934

Conflicting planetary influences are discernible in the horoscope for to-day, but benefic aspects dominate, according to astrology.

The morning hours are fortunate for women, who should promote all their highest aims in business, the professions and the arts.

This should be a happy wedding day, since the stars incline toward lasting love more toward material advancement. Marriages for money do not belong to this way.

Theatres should profit to-night, when there may be an unusual desire for recreation and the stage will command old-time respect. Actors and actresses should benefit.

Although this is not an auspicious day for beginning new projects, it is very lucky for those who make plans or bespeak support in big enterprises.

Rise to power for young financiers is foretold within this year. Not one but several new personalities of prominence will appear in the banking world, for instance.

Industry benefits under this condition, which brings unity among workers and supplies them with loyalty. Cooperation with employers is indicated.

Uranus again is read as influe toward mass delinquencies that will encourage real progress in the new long prognosticated by astrologers and well under way.

Persons in places of the sun must meet their motives to be impugned their policies misunderstood. This is to many men of wealth as well as officials.

The Prince of Wales is to gain more in world respect for his advice and ideas and deep understanding of events. The year will bring several important journeys. It is foretold that his birthdate it is has augury of a year of opportunities that will encourage real progress in the new pleasure in fulfilled ambitions.

Children born on this day probably be intellectual and industrious. But of this sign enjoy travel as a means of acquiring wider knowledge rather than a recreation.

Those who have celebrated it as a day include Charles Francis Brush, electrician and inventor, 1849.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

Yates Street In a Blaze of Glory--The First Pullman--
On a Bicycle Built For Five

Tobacco juice on the floor, three decks of hard bunk, a wood stove, flickering oil lamps. These were some of the discomforts which the first Pullman passengers met. But in the middle 50s, magazines presented this picture as the last world in travel comfort and convenience.

In case you don't recognize this scene it was the way they decorated Yates Street on gala occasions in the old days, this time the splash being in honor of the visit of the present King and Queen. They brought out Christmas trees, Chinese lanterns by the hundreds, miles of hunting and built many elaborate arches. And how do you like the high telephone poles?

Untold influence on the history of her country was exerted by the lady who is pictured above in the silks and hoopskirts of the Civil War period. She is Harriet Beecher Stowe, who wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin. Millions of copies sold, and the play which was based on it ran practically continuously for sixty years. It was revived in Victoria last Christmas by the Little Theatre Association.

Jolly good fun, eh, what? Here's a bunch of English students pedalling their way to the Cotterham races with a rickshaw-trailer in which sits their lady fair. She seems just a little embarrassed, but it's all good fun.

An early-day stage favorite, Mary Anderson was one of the actresses who helped convince the world by her exemplary private life and the inspiringly moral characters she played, that "actresses" were not necessarily huzzies.

DECIDE ON ONE OF TWO TYPES OF GARDEN

First Step in Planting Your Back Yard Is to Plan Either a Formal or a Naturalistic Setting

This is the sixth of a series of articles by Donald Gray, famous landscape consultant, on how to make a beautiful garden of your back yard.

By DONALD GRAY

It is not always possible to plan a garden on a cleared piece of ground. Some trees and shrubs may be already there.

Take a look at the conditions you have and try to imagine what kind of garden you can make out of it. What plants already growing will fit into the new picture. Take out all the rest.

Some gardeners like to grow plants in neat rows and keep their shrubs pruned. Others insist on imitating the garden of the olden times, with its wild, overgrown, and the garden becomes a jungle.

Be careful not to mix the two styles. One kind or the other, decide which one at the very beginning.

and then stick to it. Either type is all right. It depends on your individual taste as to which one is desired.

For the naturalistic one, try to create the screen along the property lines with trees and shrubs native to your part of the country. Maybe you can not take the plants from nearby woods, but you can buy these native varieties at a nursery. At least you can study the way nature plants its woods and then reproduce what you want.

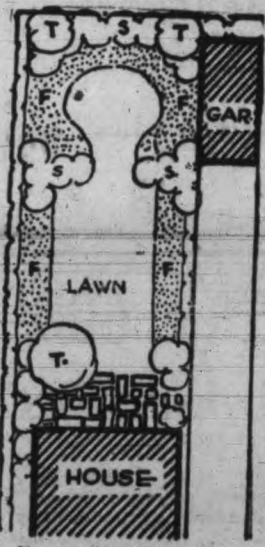

Make a pool that imitates a brook—let no concrete be seen and use weather-worn, mossy, flat stones around it.

For flowers, use the native wild ones. Native iris is not always available, but any iris can be used because it is a naturalistic type of plant. Hybrid columbines can be used instead of the native variety.

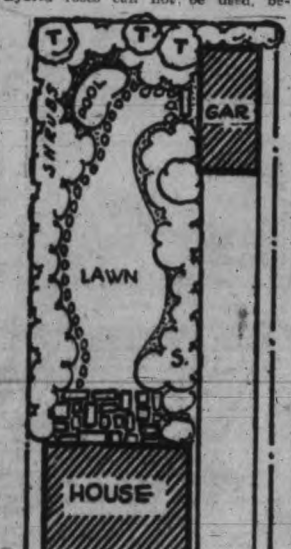

Use any flower that has relatives growing in the wilds. Peonies, and hybrid roses can not be used, because they are not a native type.

For the formal garden use shrubs and trees that will grow with definite outlines. Plant stiff, perky growing annuals in beds close enough together to produce a mass of color. Any man-made plants, like standard heliotropes or grafted shrubs on tree stems, are appropriate for a formal garden.

Saturday—The Cut Flower Patch.

Formal design for a garden.

Naturalistic design for a garden.

Chiropractors' Battle Opens

Dr. J. J. Gillis Tells House They Should Take Qualification Test

Before being allowed to practice the important profession of administering to the sick chiropractors should prove they have the qualifications to do so, Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale, declared in the B.C. Legislature yesterday. Dr. Gillis contrasted the long period of study necessary to become a doctor to the period in which it was possible to qualify as a chiropractor.

Dr. Gillis said he thought it should be made clear to the members the bill was not a government measure. He briefly dealt with the history of chiropractic, which, he said, was thirty-five or forty years old, first coming to B.C. in 1911. Their claim that the cause of all disease was a displacement of the vertebrae was classed by Dr. Gillis as a theory, not a science, as the bill claimed.

He touched on previous legislation and the clause calling for chiropractors to take an examination in anatomy. It was significant, he said, that no member of the profession took the examination. The chiropractors then sought to form a board of examination of their own.

"BLIND LEADING BLIND" "That," said Dr. Gillis, "would be a case of the blind leading the blind," arguing that chiropractors had not the necessary knowledge to hold examinations.

Extracts from reports of commissions on the subject were read by Dr. Gillis. The scope of these reports was limited, the speaker claimed, and he suggested a wider inquiry into which an investigation into the qualifications of chiropractors was permitted. The medical profession had been accused of being selfish, he said, but that, he believed, was unfair. He believed their stand that men who treated for sickness should prove themselves fully qualified to make a diagnosis was a reasonable one.

Too many people rushed into the subject, with which they were not familiar, and why should this particularly be so in the science of medicine? No science had made greater progress in the last hundred years, and this had been effected by study, hard work and research on a basis of good sound training.

"Why should I, for instance," said the speaker in questioning the right criticism of the medical profession by those not versed in it, "attempt to instruct the member for Lillooet on the ethics of journalism or the member from Similkameen on the business of railroading?"

QUALIFICATIONS No one was better able to give an opinion on the qualifications necessary for the treatment of the sick than men of the medical profession, said Dr. Gillis, comparing the training demanded to become a doctor to that to become a chiropractor.

The speaker also claimed the bill would not tie chiropractors to troubles they were able to treat but they would be treating everything as he claimed, they were trying to do now. He questioned whether they would be included if state health insurance were brought in and suspected they were trying to get in on the bandwagon.

INCREASE IN ASSESSMENTS

Saanich to Receive Over $1,000 From Larger Property Roll This Year

One encouraging feature at least will confront the Saanich Council this year when it undertakes the preparation of the 1934 budget, it was reported at a meeting yesterday evening. This will be an increase of from $1,000 to $1,200 in municipal revenue as the result of increases in this year's assessment roll.

According to a report presented by the clerk, there has been an increase of $40,860 in the roll for 1934 over 1933, which, at last year's mill rate of forty-two mills on land and on 20 per cent of improvements, would add more than $1,000 to the revenue.

The total assessment for school and general purposes this year is $5,493,064, including $340,876 for the Craigflower school district. This leaves a net taxable assessment for general purposes of $5,282,188.

POOLEY TO CO-OPERATE

Ready to Help Government in Recovery Plans, He Tells House

During the debate on the budget in the B.C. Legislature yesterday, R. H. Pooley, K.C., Unionist, Esquimalt, made a plea for wiping out party lines in dealing with any moves made by the government for recovery.

"As far as I'm concerned, I propose to help the government in any way I can, but we must have action to-day. To-morrow may be too late," he said.

"As a minister of the late administration, I appreciate the government has a difficult task to face, but let us start right away."

BEST SPEECHES Mr. Pooley was inclined to agree with Premier Pattullo's belief that the present House is the most talented he has ever seen. In twenty years in the House, said Mr. Pooley, he had not heard the calibre of speeches as given this year over-excelled.

"Now we are nearing the end of these speeches and I think we must face the fact that this is not a time for talk, but a time for action," he added.

HAD SAME ADVICE Turning to the budget, Mr. Pooley thought the Finance Minister might have been more charitable to his predecessor in office, who worked hard for the interests of the province as a whole. Few men in his position could have done as well under the difficult conditions and he doubted if any could have done better. If he did make a mistake in floating the London loan he did so on the advice of his financial advisers and those advisers were now advising the present Finance Minister. This was questioned by Hon. John Hart.

064, including $340,876 for the Craigflower school district. This leaves a net taxable assessment for general purposes of $5,282,188.

In 1933, the grand total was $5,464,498, and the Craigflower assessment was $355,270, leaving the net figure at $5,211,228.

CHURCHES AND WAR

London March 16 (Canadian Press) By an overwhelming vote the annual assembly of the Evangelical Free Churches at Birkenhead has declined to support a resolution calling on the churches to have no part "in war or preparation for war." Rev. Dr. Scott, Lidgett, former president of the Methodist Church, said he did not think it would make for peace if the British Navy were scrapped.

ST. LUKE'S The regular meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.F.A. was held on Tuesday in the Parish Hall. Final arrangements were made for the military 800 card party to be held in the hall to-night.

To Stop COLDS QUICK!

TAKE Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine without delay—it does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system. It relieves that headache and "grippy" feeling and tones the entire system and helps fortify against further attack.

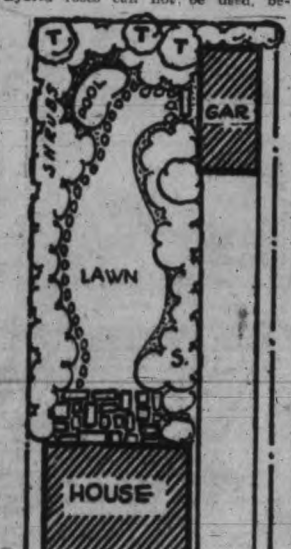

WARNING! Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is being insidiously imitated. Don't be deceived by these inferior products. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is NOT chocolate-coated because that would interfere with the action of the tablet. Dealers who offer substitutes do so because they make more money on them. Exercise your rights. Insist upon GROVE'S Laxative Bromo Quinine and look for the name on the package.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Take Up Your Liver Bile... without Calomel, And Feel Like a Million Dollars.

Nothing can put your system out of kilter so quickly as your liver. All it has to do is pour its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels—and life certainly gets grey. At sluggish flow of bile slows up digestion, eliminates and makes you "feel punk". Stomach acts up—gas, bloating, sourness. Your breath is bad and the taste in your mouth is nasty. Your head aches. Skin is dry. All, of course, because your system is clogged.

We have known how like milk, oil, mineral, roughage, laxative candy or chewing gum are not good enough to correct this condition. You're lousy and you must wake up your liver bile to be happy again.

SH TRAP FEES WILL BE RAISED

Before House Cuts Tax Seiners and Gill-netters

Members of the Fisheries Act passed in the House yesterday afternoon, G. S. Pearson, Minister of Fisheries, was discussing the bill before the committee this morning.

It is proposed to increase license on traps from $25 to $100, while on salmon seines will be reduced from $50 to $25 and gill-nets will pay $2.50 instead of $5 licenses.

Another clause in the bill gives the fisheries commissioner power to issue a license fee on plants maintained for the purpose of making, repairing, servicing, storing, gill-nets, or which are for the boarding or lodging of men during the weekly close.

It was explained that in some districts where one firm operated three or more canneries, operations were reduced to one plant, thus evading the cost of canneries license fees for others, which, however, were an integral part of the industry.

An amendment will place all premises under the head of opening canneries.

SCHOOL BOARD ASKED TO CUT
Council Wants $13,000 Off 1934 Budget

Further reduction in school teachers' salaries in Victoria, however, as a possibility to-day with the receipt by the school board of a request from the council for a $13,000 reduction in the 1934 school budget.

The board is scheduled to meet at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon to take up the matter.

Any action against teachers' salaries would be against the desire of the trustees. Teachers accepted a 10 per cent cut in income in April, 1932, and another 6 per cent cut in September of that year.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Jubilee Hospital yesterday was granted permission by the municipal council to hold a tag day in Oak Bay.

J. Malcolm Billingsley will this evening address the James Bay Athletic Association on the subject of "Rowing, a Man's Sport."

Final reading of the 1934 Tax Rate By-law, authorizing the expenditure of $307,474 and setting the tax rate this year at twenty-six mills, was given by the Oak Bay Council at a meeting yesterday.

To-morrow morning at the Victoria High School grounds rugby teams from the Boys' Central and Monterey Avenue Schools will meet in the finals for possession of the Curtis Cup. The kick-off will take place at 10:30 o'clock.

Intensions of J. H. Howland to appeal the verdict of the San Francisco court of revision of the assessment roll for 1934 before a higher court have been dropped, the municipal council was informed yesterday evening by the municipal clerk.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry will give an illustrated address in the Fairfield Church to-night on the subject of "English cathedrals." Dr. Henry has given a great deal of study subject, and has secured some beautiful lantern slides with which to illustrate his talk.

The works department of Oak Bay will immediately undertake development of the roadway beside the sea wall on Beach Drive and the seeding of the ground between the road and the wall, it was reported to the municipal council yesterday.

Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold another of their popular dances at Liberal headquarters, Broughton Street, on St. Patrick's night, to-morrow. Dancing will be from 8 to 12 A. M. and added attractions will be held. All Liberals and friends are invited.

Army and Navy Veterans Association will hold a St. Patrick's smoker in their club quarters, to-morrow evening at 8:30 o'clock. The program will consist of Irish songs and melodies, and a very entertaining and enjoyable evening is anticipated.

Herbert Yue, who pleaded guilty to a charge of allowing cattle to pasture on unfenced land, was fined $25, or in default, five days, by Magistrate Jay in San Francisco Court yesterday afternoon. Louie West, an employee of the accused, who was herding the cattle, was dismissed.

Oak Bay this year will have the same agreement with the City Library as was made last year. The council was informed at a meeting yesterday when it was arranged to pay a flat fee of $3,751.97 for the service. Last year 40 per cent of the residents of the municipality took advantage of the service.

To-morrow evening's British Columbia senior A men's championship basketball game between the Blue Ribbons and Vancouver Province at the High School gym will be refereed by Tommy Macdonald, Victoria, and Doug McIntyre, Vancouver.

Announced this afternoon by J. E. Barnwell, president of the Blue Ribbons, Presentation of a handsome pair of binoculars suitably inscribed, and an illuminated address signed by fifty-five members of the Canadian Government radio station was made to-day to Fred A. Payzant, who has been retired from the government service after twenty years. The presentation was made by Superintendent E. J. Haughton at the main office of the radio branch, Government Street.

Advocating the introduction of Christian principles into economic and international affairs, Dean C. S. Quinlan addressed a fair gathering in the Memorial Hall Wednesday evening. He was speaking on the book "Christianity and the Crisis," a compilation of essays by prominent Britishers which pointed to many of the inequities and abuses of present-day life.

The Victoria High School Orchestra and Choir will be heard in a concert to-night at 8:15 o'clock, in the school auditorium. A program of varied interest has been carefully prepared and is one which shows the comprehensive ability of the young performers to undertake classical forms of music. The choir has a membership of thirty-five girls, while the orchestra numbers about twenty-eight players of both strings and wind instruments.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold a St. Patrick's concert in the lecture room of the church this evening at 8 o'clock. A number of well-known Victoria artists will assist in an interesting programme, including Mrs. H. C. Fraser, contralto; Miss McCormick, alto; Miss Elsie Friend, soprano; Miss Barbara Fraser, pianist; George Guy, tenor; Mr. Marshall, baritone; Jesse Longfield, violinist; and Ernie Fullerton, accordion player.

Three cars were badly damaged in an unusual accident yesterday afternoon on Quadra Street. Joseph Brown, Vancouver, was driving north on Quadra Street behind a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus and on hearing the summit of Quadra Hill started to pass it when he saw another coming approaching. He applied his brakes but the car skidded, striking the other car, which was driven by John Young. The Brown car then ricocheted across the street into another car, in control of Alfred Cruel, 1039 Pandora Avenue. There were no personal injuries.

Pay Last Tribute To W. H. Wensley
A wealth of very beautiful floral tributes and a very large attendance of sorrowing friends, including a big delegation from the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers, marked the funeral yesterday of William Herbert Wensley, for many years an employee of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

Rev. E. M. Wallis conducted the impressive service, during which the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Abide With Me." Mrs. S. M. Morton sang the solo, "Beyond the Dawn," accompanied at the organ by Edgar Holloway.

The following acted as pallbearers: George Foster, W. Somerville, H. J. Brown and A. C. Wilson, representing the B. of L. E. No. 320, and H. Guy and A. Crozier, representing B.L.F. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Charles Alexander Sanders Goodie, forty-year-old seaman of the ship Nanaimo, who was injured week ago while working on the C.P.R. wharf, died on Wednesday in the Jubilee Hospital as the result of injuries sustained. An inquest will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

Mr. Goodie had recently been living in Vancouver, having come to Canada several years ago. He was born in the Shetland Islands.

NOTING FOR SINKING FUND

Council May Change Policy to Ignore 1934 Instalment For Fund

Means by which the City Council could offset the $350,000 excess of proposed expenditure over anticipated revenue, based on a forty-one mill rate, were seen to-day chiefly in the policy of foregoing this year's instalment of the sinking fund, securing from the School Board a reduction of $13,000 in its estimated expenditures during 1934 and in borrowing from the government to finance relief costs.

Those were the four main possibilities faced by the council as it met this afternoon to strike the mill rate. To forego sinking fund instalment payment this year, the city would have to secure special permission from Robert Baird, inspector of municipalities. If that action is taken, the city will be relieved of the duty of paying the neighborhood of $242,000 this year.

Yesterday the budget committee of the council adopted the School Board's estimate of $13,000, requesting that it take $13,000 from its estimates. That amount would include the $7,000 expected from the Provincial Government in increased grants to salaries for last nine months of the year.

As the "cut-throat" committee proceeded with work to-day, it aimed to increase the savings of $18,700 it had made through cuts in planned expenditures for 1934 yesterday. By the noon adjournment it had made a further saving of $6,800, bringing the total to $25,500.

If the council succeeded in these policies, adopted the plan of borrowing from the Provincial Government to estimate of $100,000 for relief, and gained permission to refund to the extent of $227,000, it would cut from its draft estimate over $275,000.

Alderman P. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, to-day stated he would submit to the council an alternative proposal which would call for an increased tax rate. If it were turned down, the abolition of the sinking fund instalment this year was considered inevitable.

W. G. BUCHAN PASSES AWAY

At the Royal Jubilee Hospital there passed away William George Buchan, aged forty-three years, of 302 Irving Road. Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, Mr. Buchan came to this city thirteen years ago and resided here until he resided for three years after leaving Scotland.

He leaves in sorrow his wife, Gladys, also of 302 Irving Road, at the family residence, Irving Road. His mother, Mrs. A. Buchan, of 908 Cloverdale Avenue, and five sisters, Rev. E. P. Church, one brother, James Buchan, Shelburne Street.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the S. J. Curry Funeral Home, 1000 Commercial Street, and interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

BOYS WARNED FOR BREAKING LIGHTS

Following repeated complaints during the last few weeks of arc lights being broken by vandals, the police yesterday afternoon arranged four lads before Magistrate Jay, who severely reprimanded them for their offence before allowing them to go.

The boys were brought in by Constable Kenneth Cummings, who had been detailed to investigate the reports. For several nights Constable Cummings kept watch on the district from which the complaints were received.

He finally arrested the quartette, one of whom broke a light with a stone, while they were walking along Spanish Road, near Bethune.

The magistrate warned the boys of the offence they had committed and before allowing them to go, ordered them to pay the municipality the cost of replacing the light.

Mrs. E. W. W. Pugh Called to Rest

Mrs. Florence Hester Pugh, wife of W. E. W. Pugh, Archdeacon of Lillooet, passed away in Vancouver yesterday. Funeral services were held this morning at St. James' Church, and the remains will be laid at rest to-morrow at Lytton, B.C.

Mrs. Pugh was a sister of Mrs. A. R. Sherwood, 3240 Quadra Street, Victoria, and had many friends here who will mourn her passing.

Mrs. Thos. Daykin Succumbed To-day

The death occurred at the Jubilee Hospital this morning of Elizabeth Daykin, wife of Thos. Daykin of 848 Darwin Avenue, Saanich. Mrs. Daykin was born in Lancashire, Scotland, in April, 1852, and came to this city twenty-three years ago. She is survived by four sons, two daughters, fifteen grandchildren, four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros' Funeral Home, and interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

SUCCUMBS AFTER WHARF ACCIDENT

Charles Alexander Sanders Goodie, forty-year-old seaman of the ship Nanaimo, who was injured week ago while working on the C.P.R. wharf, died on Wednesday in the Jubilee Hospital as the result of injuries sustained. An inquest will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

Mr. Goodie had recently been living in Vancouver, having come to Canada several years ago. He was born in the Shetland Islands.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

W. G. STONE
LIEUT. J. CROWTHER
HARRY ANDERSON
MISS MURIEL W. CHAVE

W. G. Stone of the Employment Service Bureau of Canada is well known for his work among returned soldiers. He is now provincial executive secretary of the Canadian Legion. He served overseas with the 88th battalion.

Lieut. J. Crowther of the Victoria Fire Department to-day passes another milestone. He resides at 120 Croft Street.

Harry Anderson, also of the Victoria Fire Department, was born at Moss, Norway. He came to Victoria thirty-six years ago, and has been a member of the department for over twenty years.

Muriel Winifred Chave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Chave, of Harcourt House, Government Street, is receiving congratulations on her eighteenth birthday to-day. She is now in Vancouver completing her high school education at the University of British Columbia.

Her mother, Mrs. Chave, is a daughter of a family well known in Victoria for many years.

RAIL CHARTER IS ATTACKED

C.N.E. Rights Blanket North Country, Committee Told; Death to P.G.E.

Strong opposition to the extension for five years of the charter granted in 1929 for construction of a line from Stewart, B.C., to Fort Graham by the Canadian Northeastern Railway Company, which is controlled by the Consolidated Mining and Smelters Limited, developed in the private bills committee this morning from Hon. H. G. Perry, Fort George, and E. F. Kenney, Skeena, members for the area affected.

"If this is extended it is the death-knell of any hopes to get our money back out of the P.G.E.," said Mr. Perry. "This charter blankets the whole of that northern country as far as railway development is concerned and unless some immediate return is offered by the company, it should be turned down."

If the line ever was completed it would be a disaster to the country, Mr. Perry said, and would ruin any chance of the P.G.E. being extended further. Furthermore, with the charter now in existence, it was unlikely any company would take over the P.G.E. for extension to the Peace since the traffic there would certainly not support two railroads.

Only one chance to make the P.G.E. pay and that is by extension to the Peace River. Other wise the province is stuck for $67,000,000, he declared.

"There is only one chance to make the P.G.E. pay and that is by extension to the Peace River. Other wise the province is stuck for $67,000,000, he declared.

The original charter for the line was granted in 1906. Mr. Perry pointed out that since that time the people had been bolstered up by false promises of the road being built and only a small link of thirteen and one-half miles had been constructed.

J. B. Clearhith, solicitor for the company, said the Consolidated, which was the C.P.R. had not entered the picture until 1929, when it obtained a revised charter from the Legislature. No one could have expected the company to construct the line in the last five years of depression.

Mr. Kenney opposed the application on similar grounds as Mr. Perry, but said if the company would immediately undertake construction, which they would need in building the railway, it would be a guarantee of good faith.

At the rate they are now going the present generation will never get any benefit, he said.

W. J. Asselstine, Atlin, favored the charter and declared if over the people a line built to open up the territory it would be through the Consolidated and the C.P.R.

JUDGE DISMISSES WATSON CHARGE

Judge Lampman to-day handed down a six-page judgment dismissing the action brought by Sergeant-Major Watson against the University School for some $750 extra pay he claimed for services during the period when the school was under Gerald Bolton.

DEATH REMOVES G. J. M. STARK

Yesterday evening at the family residence, 128 Bushby Street, the death occurred of George John Miller Stark, aged eighty-two years. Mr. Stark was born in Lancashire, Scotland, in April, 1852, and came to this city twenty-three years ago. He is survived by four sons, two daughters, fifteen grandchildren, four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros' Funeral Home, and interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

IS LAID TO REST

The remains of Mrs. Jane Denton were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park yesterday afternoon, following the funeral services conducted by Rev. G. B. Switzer, D.D. The hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." The pallbearers were J. P. Sutton, G. Cordner, John Harris and J. Smith. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers.

JURY PLACED UNDER GUARD

Men Hearing Evidence in Jones Trial Here Locked Up in Hotel Overnight

The jury in the William Jones trial spent yesterday evening in confinement under police guard. Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson ordered the jury locked up for the night when he adjourned the court yesterday afternoon until this morning.

The jurors were taken by Sheriff H. W. Goggin with a guard to the Dominion Hotel where they were placed in rooms along one corridor from which the public was excluded. They were allowed no outside communication.

The nineteen-year-old girl of a Kamloops and Vancouver family, whose sudden complaint to the police resulted in the assault charge against Mr. Jones, was on the stand most of Thursday and resumed the stand when the court reconvened to-day.

Dr. Charles Duck, who examined the girl and made tests after the alleged occurrences, gave technical evidence. In reply to questions from M. B. Jackson, K.C., prosecutor, and Stuart Henderson, who is conducting the defence, Dr. Duck testified that the girl showed signs of mistreatment or of force being used.

Dr. John Moore testified as to the result of the laboratory examination conducted on towels found in the house.

When she entered the witness box, the girl under questioning from Mr. Jackson told about her visits to the home where she had lived last year with her relatives. She admitted that after she went back to Vancouver she had expressed her willingness and later a degree of eagerness to come back. Finally, she asked to be allowed to take up the position of housekeeper at the Jones establishment for as little as $10 a month in cash and her board.

Much of the time of the trial was taken up with the reading of the letters which the girl had written to her mother over a period of months, following her social visit to the Jones home, and until she finally came over here to become housekeeper.

Mr. Jones's letter to her, she said, had been destroyed by herself. "Most of the letters were signed 'With love and kisses.' Finally on December 21st, she wrote that she was positively coming to him in Victoria, that she was 'glad you accepted me as your little housekeeper' and that she was anxious to see 'Sleepy' again."

Mr. Jones testified, had then sent over her fare and she arrived here on January 3, being met at the boat by him in the harbor. The first morning shopping in town, buying food supplies, and then drove out to the Jones home, where she immediately assumed charge.

She said the alleged offences took place on the afternoon and evening of a day a week later. She testified she had not been feeling well and was shopping in town, buying food supplies, and then drove out to the Jones home, where she immediately assumed charge.

The jury consists of Henry John Temple, James Herbert Gann, John L. Newbigging, John Riddell, Leonard C. Oester, Ernest W. Ockwell, Albert H. Olson, Carl William Quest, Richard Shank, Robert Jackson, and drew Rand and Harry R. McDonald.

ASSAULT VICTIM IS PROGRESSING

Condition of Angus Macdonald, alleged victim of an assault by William Nurse on Wednesday night, was reported as good to-day, when first evidence in the case was heard in City Police Court. Magistrate Jay continued to delay setting the amount of bail for Nurse, owing to the serious condition of the injured man, having deferred decision until to-morrow.

Brian Ashworth, taxi-driver, was called this morning owing to the fact that he will shortly leave for England and could not do so until after the case began. Nurse is charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm and is represented by F. J. Sinnott, having pleaded not guilty.

The case was remanded until next Friday, March 23.

COURT ORDERS MONEY SEIZED

Sum of $40 Found in Gambling House Raid Confiscated Despite Lawyer's Appeal

A long argued point in criminal cases was reviewed again before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning, when F. C. Elliott appealed to the court for forfeiture of $40 in cash taken in a recent raid on a gambling house in Chinatown.

The court declined Mr. Elliott's appeal and ordered the money seized with the remainder of the paraphernalia which was taken when police raided quarters on Pan Tan Alley. It was in this case that the twenty-seven Chinese chose jail terms rather than pay the usual nominal fine.

Mr. Elliott read a section of the code dealing with seizure in gambling house raids, which stated police acting under a search warrant might take tables, instruments and any money or device found being used.

He pointed out, however, that the $40 had been contained in a valise in a room which served as an office to the gambling room and that the officers had testified it had been necessary to use force to break in and obtain it and that as far as they knew no one in the gambling room had access to the office.

"This is an old question but the section clearly states the officers may bring all articles of gaming and money which they want to into court," stated C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, who was true no one could open the room, but he pointed out, it was necessary to go through the gambling room to the office as there was no other door to it.

Because there was no other access to the office than through the large room it had to be considered part of the gaming premises, the magistrate ruled. No one had come forward and claimed the money, and Mr. Elliott had not specified whose it was, he said, and for that reason it was natural to assume it was part of the gambling money.

URGES CONTROL FOR RECOVERY

He attacked the looseness with which business has been carried on in recent years, saying credit was being sold, not merchandise.

The speaker commended President Roosevelt of the United States for his policies, but stated he would be the last person in the world to advocate an NRA system for Canada.

He believed Canada's ills could be remedied by control and did not require U.S. methods.

The need for control in industry and in distribution was voiced by Major Anthes. He quoted various authorities to illustrate his points.

Citing one leader, he declared Canada's industrial and business depression had been caused largely by anarchic competition.

Fair play with one's fellow men should be the policy adopted, he said.

"I believe the tendency is to get closer together," he said, adding, "the interests of the farmer, the manufacturer, the industrialist and the worker should be considered."

In his belief, recovery could be made by business itself, without governmental intervention, on a basis of control built on a system of better ethics.

"Let us draw more closely to the British Empire. Let us show there is no east and west. Let us, with that spirit which is British, show an example to the rest of the world," Major Anthes concluded.

Cup Semi-Finals Football Feature

COWICHAN CUP MATCH CARDED

Garrison and J.B.A.A. Will Meet in Semi-final Rugby Fixture To-morrow

Can the J.B.A.A. put a halt to the winning streak of the undefeated Garrison rugby fifteen? That is the question being asked in oval ball circles to-day on the eve of the Cowichan Cup semi-final fixture between these two clubs at the Victoria High School grounds to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The winner of the match will battle the undefeated Fifth Brigade, senior A champions, in the final on March 31.

Strengthened by the return from California of Pete Turgoose and Chris Usher, members of British Columbia touring rugby squad, Manager Bob McInnes' boys will be slight favorites to take the heavy Garrison team in this important fixture. In an exhibition match played a few weeks ago the Tommies chalked up a 3 to 0 victory, scoring the only points on a penalty kick.

Bombardier Bill Wharton, former "rey" player and a member of the Canadian team which toured Japan, has his proteges in excellent shape for the battle and feels confident his boys can take the measure of the Jays for a second time.

The teams follow:

J.B.A.A.—Parrott, Addison, Brown, Turgoose, Beck, Carmichael, McKennie, Lemm, Pearl, Robbins, Usher, Schultz, Petticrew, Rogers and Tobin. Garrison—Lindsay, Buxton, Loveless, Pockock, Gibrath, Stewart, Martin, Wharton, Rowton, Graham, Featherstone, Lee, Woodrow and Ward.

PITTSBURGH IS HOPEFUL

Strengthened Pirates Confident of Taking National League Baseball Title

Paso Robles, Cal., March 16.—Pittsburgh's Pirates are going gunning for the National League prize this season with high hopes that a newcomer to the crew will mean the difference between first place and the runner-up position they have occupied the last two years.

The busy baseballer in whose experience Manager George Gibson is placing considerable trust is Charles "Red" Lucas, late of the Cincinnati Reds' pitching corps and a pinch hitter who, really "this in the pinches."

Aside from Lucas, the Pirate squad is virtually the same as that which led the pennant parade part of last season and trailed the Giants in at the finish.

Gibson believes his outfield compares with any in the league. It lines up the Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd, and Freddie Lindstrom.

The infield combination has been given, with Gus Suhr at first, Tom Thorne at second, Floyd Vaughan at short and the reliable "Pie" Traynor at third.

Behind the plate Early Grace and Hal Finney claim first and second-string positions respectively. The pitching staff, headed by Luvas, offers out few worries.

IRISH CLOTHS

For good, long, hard wear, choose a suit that has been PROPERLY tailored from an Irish twist . . . from a Mahony or Blackthorn Twist. They know no superior in wear-resisting quality. Smart, too, as are our suits and topcoats in Donegal and Connemara tweeds. New styles for Spring . . . and sensibly moderate prices, ranging from $30 up.

Leader—Wissel

Lakeland, Fla.—With Herman (Fish) Clifton prior to the third base job, Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detroit Tigers, waited anxiously to-day for Marvin Owen to get a suit and get into practice, to determine whether he is going to be able to take the third-base assignment. Owen came in Wednesday from Hot Springs.

Orlando, Fla.—The ultimatum issued to Ray Benge, Brooklyn's hold-out pitcher, brought quick results, but Manager Casey Stengel and Business Manager Bob Quinn are planning to use different tactics on Al Lopez and Hank Wilson.

Quinn is expected to go to Tampa in a day or two to talk things over with Lopez. As for Wilson, Stengel remarked:

"If he wants to come in, it's all right with me. And if he doesn't want to come in that's all right."

Winter Haven, Fla.—Whether the calibre of the Phils, the players in Philadelphia's League Club are off to an even start.

In their first encounter, a six-inning affair, the regulars and the "rainmakers" each got five runs, made seven hits, committed two errors and had six men stranded on base.

Sarasota, Fla.—Lefty Grove, Cincinnati southpaw, is suffering from the first sore arm in his baseball career. He worked out for about thirty minutes yesterday and after practice reported to Trainer Doc Woods that for the first time in his entire pro ball career he had a sore arm.

MAROONS WILL KEEP BLINCO

Reach Agreement With Detroit Red Wings Over Possession of Rookie Star

Detroit, March 16.—The battle of Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League for the services of Russel Blinco, an outstanding rookie with Maroons this year, has been settled. It was reported here to-day.

Detroit has waived its claim to the blonde speed merchant in return for the services of Lorne Duguid and the latter will be with Red Wings next winter. It was learned, Montreal will buy Blinco whom they brought up on option from the Windsor club early in the season.

After Blinco's remarkable goal-scoring streak in the majors this season, Maroons decided to purchase the player but Detroit stepped in with a counter claim showing Blinco was on the Wings' negotiation list.

Colson Compos yesterday evening captured the Arcade Senior Fivepin League championship when they defeated the Maple Leafs three games to one in the play-off at the Arcade.

Colson Compos took the first two games, but the Leafs rallied to win the next fixture. The fourth game, which was won by the Colson Compos, decided the championship, was closely contested all of the way with the newly crowned champions winning by twenty-two pins. Colson Compos rolled 1,065, while their opponents replied with 1,036.

Vancouver Lions In Hockey Final

Defeat Edmonton Eskimos 3 to 1 and Earn Right to Meet Calgary Tigers For Northwestern League Championship

Seattle, March 16.—Guy Patrick's speedy young Lions to-day won their way into the final round of the Northwestern Professional Hockey League playoffs.

Lions clinched their final berth with Calgary Tigers when, true to their pre-game predictions, they handed Edmonton Eskimos a 3 to 1 defeat here yesterday evening and wrote final to the veteran Eskimos bid for championship honors.

It was Vancouver's second straight victory in their two-out-of-three series with Edmonton. They won the first game at Vancouver 4 to 3 Monday night.

Youth and speed, Eskimos downfall Monday night, again proved too much for the cagey but aging veterans and despite a desperate stand, Lions ran in two goals in the opening session, added another in the second and held Duke Keats and his warriors to a single corner in the last half of the first goal.

Sweeping in on the left of the Edmonton defence, Arnott slipped the puck to Charlie Mason and the right winger promptly scored it to Clint Smith who had slipped in near the Edmonton goal. Smith tricked Goale Earl Robertson out of position, then stepped the disc home.

Less than a minute later, Sammy MacAdam, captain and left winger, put Lions two up. Taking the puck on a Vancouver rush, Sammy raced down the left boards and drilled a terrific shot from just inside the Eskimo blue line that gave Robertson no chance to save.

Carefully guarding their two-goal lead, Lions back-checked furiously in the second frame and gave Eskimos little chance to test Johnny Clark in the Vancouver nets.

Even the famed Holmes-Gagne-Arbour first line failed to dent the twine in the Lions' cage.

Lions kept up the pace in the third period, but the Eskis, desperate for a score, swept in on Clark in four and from then on stayed out in front and won by a comfortable margin.

Results, with Victoria players first mentioned, follow:

Women's Doubles
Mrs. Heywood and Miss Harris won from Mrs. Carrier and Miss Gilman, 2-15, 17-14, 15-3.

Mrs. Heywood and Miss Harris won from Misses Woodward and Sluggitt, 15-12, 4-15, 15-13.

Misses McCall and G. Sluggitt won from Misses Woodward and Sluggitt, 17-16, 15-11.

Misses McCall and G. Sluggitt won from Mrs. Carrier and Miss Gilman, 11-15, 15-7, 15-1.

Closing Quotations On Winnipeg Wheat Show Slight Gains

Winnipeg, March 16.—A natural reaction to three days of declining prices set in on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Prices were subjected to only light selling and at the close showed gains of 1/4 to 1/2 cent. There was no pickup in activity in the closing stages but final quotations were very firm at the day's top levels. May wheat closed at 68 1/4 and July at 69 1/2 cents.

Trading was mixed in character but buyers predominated. Offerings were very light. Selling was credited to various sources including Chicago. Export interests had a share in the buying but foreign sales were small. Chicago prices were strong, up about 1/4 cent. Liverpool wheat sold off 1/4-1/2d.

depth of its preoccupation with its own conclusions. It too often fails to see round its subject. It sees its results out of perspective by making them the centre of attention to which all other results must be related. Too often, also, it lacks humility, and this breeds in its possessors a failure in proportion which makes them fail to see the obvious, which is before their very noses. It has, also, a certain caste spirit about it, so that experts tend to neglect all evidence which does not come from those who belong to their own ranks.

Vital and dangerous is the expert caste-spirit. The inability of doctors to see light from without is notorious; and a reforming lawyer is at least as strange a spectacle as one prepared to welcome criticism of his profession from men who do not practice it. There is, in fact, no expert group which does not tend to deny that truth may possibly be found outside the boundary of its private Pyrenees. Yet, clearly enough, to accept its dicta as final, without examination of their implications, would be to accept gross error as truth in almost every department of social effort.

The expert tends, that is to say, to make his subject the measure of life, instead of making life the measure of his subject.

Does the editor of The Colonist really persuade himself that posterity will continue indefinitely to accept medical dicta, and the medical approach to disease and cure, as the voice of God on the subject? All history proves that posterity will do nothing of the sort. It will regard the prevalent orthodox medical theories with curiosity and wonderment; and as always in the past, the heresies of the age will be the orthodoxies of the next.

LOOKING FORWARD.

WANTS LABOR SUBSIDIZED

To the Editor.—That much hated or loved "baby" the Minimum Wage Bill, has appeared at the Parliament Buildings again. What reception will it receive at the hands of vested interests this time, and how will it hold up under the strain of evasions and wire entanglements?

The question is, dare it be enforced impartially, and if strictly enforced how will it effect the life of those industries? It seems to me it should be well backed and supported by a maximum profits bill, to ensure a respectful compliance with its tenets in action.

In the past when we subsidized industries and shipping we thought we were bringing back prosperity, but now we see we were only extending for a longer period an endless circle of increased profits on investments, which brought us back again to our starting point, lack of consumers. We were feeding the wrong horse. We were subsidizing the wrong unit, and only aggravating the lack of balance between supply and demand.

The chief problem the Minimum Wage Law has to solve, is how the wage earner can best become a consumer and spender. For it is he who operates the law of supply and demand, for he lives from hand to mouth and must circulate his credit immediately.

Subsidized labor will bring quicker results and increase trade, than will

FOURTH DEGREE

A Mystery Novel

By K. S. DAIGER

(Copyright by Macrae-Smith Company)

The gangster was a little fellow, with an evil face, a wicked eye, and a mop of straight red hair which fell over his face, giving him a peculiar leering expression. A young man in a tuxedo and derby hat, who was years but centuries old in his experience of crime.

"Frisk him, boys, and search the room," ordered the Inspector.

But Tim had evidently been prepared for just such a visit. All the implements of his trade, down to the last jimmy, had been removed, and the deadliest weapon which he could unearth was a rusty razor-blade.

"What you got on me now, Cap?" he asked, with the smugness of a man who is confident that the police have nothing.

"Oh, just a little murder."

"Murder?"

"The Paige murder—know what I mean?"

Tim turned deathly white and and caught his breath in a dreadful gasp. Whatever visit he had expected from the Law, it plainly had not been relative to this.

"Tilly's squealed," went on Anderson bluntly. "We know the whole story, Stokes—how you went after the pearl and how you hid in the basement, and how you at last strangled Mrs. Paige. I don't want you to talk now—I just want you to know a little of what we've got on you!"

The gangster collapsed under eyes as if he had been a pricked balloon.

"God, Cap, you got me wrong! I never killed her!" he whimpered.

"Tilly's squealed the beans, Tim. Better come clean!"

"Oh, I was there, all right," moaned Stokes, who seemed to be convinced that his confederate had really turned State's evidence. "But I swear to God I never killed her or touched the pearl—somebody beat me to it!"

"Tell me about it up at the Headquarters," said Anderson skeptically, as he gave the signal to the officers to take him away.

On the outside, we found the reporters. Somebody had tipped them off and their machines were dashing frantically to the scene of the arrest.

We passed through a line of photographers, flashlights raised in their hands, all shooting away at Tim and his captors.

And, standing by himself on one corner, I caught a glimpse of Kirk Judson and for the first time, I remarked that he had taken no part in the arrest. Decent of him, I thought, to keep his word and let the department take all the credit! He stood there quietly, rubbing his hands together in glee, and smirking with delight at the biggest news that had struck the town for many a day. And it lost nothing in the telling!

The Inquisition—believe third degree is the technical term, but I have always preferred the more descriptive phrase—the Inquisition of Tim Stokes took place that night in the office of Captain Andy at headquarters. Anderson was there, of course, and Carroll and Captain Mahler, head of the district, representatives of all newspapers and press services, and even Commissioner of Police Barrett put in an appearance before the interview was over. One person was conspicuous by his absence and that was Kirk Judson. He was keeping his promise to let the police grab all the glory with a vengeance. All of the papers had issued extras and once again Judson found himself the hero of the hour. Anderson had issued a statement stating the source of the arrest, and the press was liberal in giving credit where credit was due. But Inspector Anderson and his men were nevertheless highly complimented on the mastery with which they had conducted the investigation, and had taken Stokes into custody.

There were all kinds of pictures, most of them of ancient vintage dug out of the dusty newspaper morgues. Kirk Judson made the front page in a tuxedo and Derby hat, photo taken about fifteen years earlier. Mrs. Phelps was there in a delectable evening gown; another of the Phelps' home at Towson with an "X" showing the sleeping-room of the erstwhile departed Tilly. A third showed the Easter Street house with a photograph explaining the police had cornered their prey. And a little head of Sunny Paige beside a magnificent close-up of Tim Stokes, three columns wide. In short, it was a grand and glorious night for the press.

Every sheet carried a complete and none too accurate account of Stokes' visit to the Paige estate, with such embellishments as the individual writers thought added to the description. Wires direct from police headquarters to the city desks were kept open. Word had gone out that there would be another extra later that night, and Tim's story—whether denial or confession—would soon be shouted to the high heavens by the hundreds of little newsies who lolled around the newspaper buildings.

All of Baltimore was agog, and indeed I cannot remember another night when excitement ran quite so high, not even when Walter Boone was convicted in the Norris murder or when Jack Hart made his sensational jail break.

Stokes was led into the Inspector's office, manacled to a deputy-sheriff. He wore no collar or tie and was unshaven and dirty. Gone was his debonaire manner of the afternoon. He was frightened, even trembling a little when he saw the mob of men, and he wore a hang-dog expression—guilt, if I ever saw it, written all over him.

"You can sit here," said Anderson, pointing to a chair where a huge calcium light would fall squarely on the man's face. "Now, Stokes, first I shall warn you that this is a confession by your own statement, and that you say may be used against you. You may talk or not just as you like. I'm not particularly interested in any statement that you make. I just want to tell you a little of what we have on you."

"But I ain't confessed," protested Tim, to whom this opening line of conversation was evidently a little speedy. "I told you that I didn't do it—and I don't know who does it!"

"First of all we'll start off with your real name, and then we'll pick up a sheet of paper from his desk. I'm going to refresh your memory by reading it to you. It's pretty long, so long, in fact, that I am afraid you may have forgotten it."

He began to read aloud, and I am reproducing the record exactly as it appeared in the Bertillon files of the Baltimore Police Department.

Following is the criminal record as shown in our file of Timothy James Stokes, No. 7290, alias, "Buckeye" Stokes—Tim Stokes, Deadeye Tim, Bill Murphy, John M. Gallagher, R. F. Skinger.

4-13-09—San Francisco No. 1493 Timothy James Stokes, Bill Murphy, charge, burglary, to California State School during minority.

9-18-12—Seattle, Washington, as 4572 as Deadeye Tim. Charge burglary. Case settled.

Uncle Wiggly Makes a Mistake

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

All the animals in Woodland near the Otterbein Mountains, where Uncle Wiggly lived in his polio stump bungalow, were talking about the rabbit gentleman's new candy store.

Mr. Whitewash, the Polar Bear gentleman, who was nibbling on an icicle from his frozen cave, met Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig.

"I see Wiggly has started a candy store," growled the Bear.

"Oh, yes," grunted the pig. "I noticed he had a sign on the front of his bungalow. Too bad! Poor Uncle Wiggly must have lost all his money and his wife and Nurse Jane probably had to open the candy store to get in a little something to live on."

"I guess so," growled Mr. Whitewash. "Wiggly has always been very kind and good to us."

"So he has, yes, indeed!" grunted the pig. "I was thinking, 'went on the Bear, 'that you and I might go to his bungalow store and buy a lot of candy so Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane would have money to buy food for the hungry little bunnies.'"

"A very good thought, Brother Whitewash," grunted the fat pig. "I don't care much for candy myself, but I suppose what I buy I could give to my little pigs."

"I'm not very fond of candy, either," growled the Polar Bear, as he took another bite of icicle. "So what I buy from Uncle Wiggly I'll give to you for the children."

"You'll grunted Mr. Twistytail. The two friends hurried to the rabbit's hollow stump bungalow, outside of which was a sign:

MAPLE SUGAR CANDY STORE.

When the pig and bear entered Uncle Wiggly's bungalow, they found that the rabbit gentleman had made a counter in the front room by putting Nurse Jane's ironing board across the backs of two chairs. On this ironing board counter were piles of brown maple sugar candy.

"Hello, Wiggly!" grunted his pig friend. "I'll take $2 worth of your candy."

"I'll take $5 worth," grunted Mr. Whitewash, who was very rich.

"Or, but I don't sell this candy," laughed Uncle Wiggly.

"What's it here for, just to look at?" asked the bear. "And if you don't sell it why have you that store sign out in front?"

"Oh, I mean don't sell the candy for money," laughed the rabbit. "I trade it for carrots, turnips, lettuce or anything else you may have in the way of vegetables. You see we ran short of carrots and lettuce," he explained. "All I have left is cabbage and we cannot live on just cabbage, and if we ate all of our own maple sugar candy, of which I have bushels and bushels, we would make us ill. So I hit on the idea of trading candy for vegetables."

"A very good idea," grunted the pig. "We have more turnips than we need. Wiggly, so I'll trade you some and trade them for candy."

"I'm afraid I can't trade with you," said the Polar Bear, "as all I eat besides icicles is fish and you don't want fish, do you?"

"No," answered Uncle Wiggly. "But my brown bear friend, Mr. Stubbytail, likes fish and I know he has a lot of apples in his cellar. So if you traded him some fish for apples, then you could bring me the apples and take maple sugar. And if you don't like maple sugar, you can trade it with Mr. Otter for more fish. Mr. Otter is a great fisher."

"I'll do that!" laughed Mr. Whitewash.

So began a very busy time in the rabbit gentleman's maple sugar candy store. Animals that had more carrots than they needed brought them to trade for maple sugar, of which they were very fond. And some had more turnips or potatoes than they needed for the remainder of the winter and they traded these for chunks of maple sugar candy.

Many mothers, instead of giving their animal boys and girls pennies to go to the store for sticks of candy, gave them a turnip, a carrot, or a potato and they hurried to Uncle Wiggly's store and traded the vegetables for maple sugar.

The Fox heard about the rabbit's store and thinking to play a trick, the Fox painted some sticks yellow to look like carrots and then, putting on a false face and other clothes worn to try and catch Uncle Wiggly, as first the bunny was fooled and he handed the Fox some maple sugar for the wooden carrots. But, all of a sudden the false face slipped off the Fox and Uncle Wiggly cried:

"Oop! I made a mistake. I meant to give you this instead of candy!"

And he gave the Fox such a hard whack on the nose with Nurse Jane's broom that the Bad Chap ran away and didn't come back for a long time.

And so Mr. Longears had all the vegetables he needed to eat.

Now if the can opener will go to the clothes tree and pick off a hat for the head of the state anthro, or sprig.

SHIP APPEARS NOT DAMAGED

Woman Passenger Aboard Ss. Tai Yin Had Narrow Escape

San Francisco, March 16.—Tugs pulled the Norwegian motorship Tai Yin off a sandy beach north of here yesterday and the vessel made its way to this port for an inspection to determine the damage to the ship's hull.

The Tai Yin went aground Wednesday during a heavy fog at Point Reyes, thirty miles north of San Francisco. Coastguard boats and tugs stood by during the night, but the thirteen passengers, including three women and a child, and the forty-five members of the crew remained aboard the vessel.

Captain Eric Bjornness is commander of the Tai Yin, which was bound from the Orient to San Francisco with a cargo of sugar.

The thirteen passengers appeared unconcerned about their experience as they came ashore here. Mrs. Clara Schermer, Brennenman, who with her husband, John Brennenman, an expert on hides, is en route to Philadelphia to attend their son's graduation from the University of Pennsylvania, had a narrow escape, however. A lead line, shot aboard the Tai Yin by the coast-guarders crashed through the roof of the forward sundeck and narrowly missed her feet.

The Tai Yin, which had been aground twenty-two hours before tugs pulled her free, appeared undamaged as she docked at a waterfront pier.

Tour of Japan Is Announced

An interesting tour of Japan this summer is planned by Percy Fletcher of Victoria, who will sail at the head of a special party from Vancouver on June 30 by the Ms. Hiye Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. Fletcher's party will see Japan thoroughly, but will not travel to China or the Philippines Islands.

THIRD READING FOR MERGER BILL

London, March 16.—The House of Commons yesterday gave third reading to the bill providing for a merger of the Cunard and White Star shipping lines, apparently ignoring an injunction threat of the International Mercantile Marine Company of New York.

Stevie Chamberlain, Cancellor of the Exchequer, indicated earlier in the day that the government could legally implement its part in the merger scheme without consent of the United States company.

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine, threatened suit to stop the merger. The merger is being subsidized by the British Government under the proposed bill, which would call for completion of the new Cunard liner 534.

CAPTAINS AND SHIP THAT FIGURED IN SEA CRASH

The thrilling story of how the Ss. Black Eagle rammed and sank the Donaldson freighter Concordia, laden with cattle, in a fog off the Grand Banks and then effected a daring rescue of the Concordia's crew of sixty-one men was told by survivors on their arrival in New York. At the left is seen Capt. Thomas A. Kelley of the Black Eagle, next Capt. Allen Murray of the ill-fated ship, and at the right the rammed bow of the Black Eagle. About 4500 steers went down with the Concordia.
